WAR MOVIES ON THE SOUTH COMMON

Hot? Wish I could get cooled off. Well, here's a chance. There are going to be free moving pictures of the great war shown on the South common this evening just as soon as it gets dark and begins to cool off. Why not stroll up there, get in a cool place, get your mind off the heat and enjoy an hour and a half of first class entertainment of the latest war films put out by the government?

The park department, through the efforts of Clarence M. Weed, has secured a number of films from the bureau of commercial economics at Washington, D. C., and these are to be shown this evening on the Highland street slope of the common. You know that downy, cool-appearing side of the common—at 8.30.

Admission will be free with not even a war tax to be paid. All seats are reserved for those who get them first. The pictures will be thrown on a screen in a position where everybody can see them and there will be sufficient police protection to hinder any "rough" stuff by spectators.

This will be the first municipal movie show held this year and it is planned to conduct performances one evening every week.

But you want to see the first edition to get a good idea on just what the films are. And with the cool breezes blowing over the common, an excellent show going on and every possible facility for keeping cool, where is there a better place to spend the evening than at the big reservation to the south?

German Crown Prince, Faced With Disaster, Calls for Assistance

German Divisions From the North Rushed South in Attempt to Halt Allies

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Frederick William, the German imperial crown prince, has been obliged to call for help from his cousin, Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. German divisions from the army in the north have been hurried down to protect the western flank of the defeated army, which has been driven back over the Marne and ejected from Chateau-Thierry by Franco-American troops.

Thompson to succeed Jeremiah A. Daly, who has resigned to accept a position with the state board of health.

Mr. Mahoney is thoroughly conversant with the duties of the department as a result of his extended experience and his appointment comes in the nature of a promotion.

ANOTHER APPLICANT FOR THE POSITION OF CITY BACTERIOLOGIST

Fishman of this city is the present applicant. He is a graduate of Tufts Medical school in the class of 1910 and studied under Prof. Timothy Leary of Tufts who is considered one of the best informed bacteriologists in the country. The first application for the position came from Dr. James J. Hoban of Chelmsford.

HUN CROWN PRINCE APPEALS FOR HELP

(By The Associated Press)

Rear-guard actions are being fought by the Germans north of Chateau-Thierry. They were probably organized for the purpose of delaying the relentless pursuit of the fleeing enemy by the French and Americans, who on Sunday morning, passed through Chateau-Thierry and advanced northeast of that cornerstone of German conquest in eastern France.

GERMAN ATTACKS BROKEN UP

The reaction of the Germans is said to have been marked between Grisolles and Bezu-St. Germain, two villages north-northwest and north of Chateau-Thierry, at a distance of approximately seven and four miles respectively. The distance between Grisolles and Bezu-St. Germain is about four miles. Along this line, German attacks were broken and the allied line was maintained throughout.

North of the Ourcq river, the reaction of the enemy was limited to artillery fire.

This was also the case between the Marne and Rheims, notably in the region west of the Rheims mountain and in the Courton and Roi woods.

NEW ALLIED DRIVE

Since the Germans have been ousted from Chateau-Thierry under conditions which suggest that the withdrawal was precipitate, the most interesting movements in the area south of Soissons, where the Americans are reported to have advanced a distance of a mile and a quarter; the Ourcq valley, where the allies are steadily pounding their way toward Nanteuil-Notre Dame, and southwest of Rheims, where there seems to be an indication that the allies have initiated a new drive for the purpose of outflanking the Germans between Marfaux and Chatillon.

MASS NOTICE

There will be an anniversary high mass of requiem at eight o'clock Tuesday, July 23, at the Immaculate Conception church for the repose of the soul of the late Thomas F. and John M. Cooney.

ALLIED POSITIONS ADVANCED

If this last movement develops, the allies' "nutcracker" will be in full motion. Between the known allied front south of Soissons, to the town of Bouilly, southwest of Rheims, there is a gap of about 24 miles. This gap, however, probably is much smaller at present, for the allies' positions south of Soissons seem likely to have been advanced materially since they were reported at Harleunes-et-Taux, on Saturday. If the French, Italian and British troops southwest of Rheims make an advance of any importance the position of the Germans farther south will be made even more critical than it is known to be at present.

GERMANS FORCED BACK

There appear to be at least two, and possibly three, enveloping operations along the western side of the salient, south of Soissons. The first of these, evidenced by the breaking through of the allies northwest of Chateau-Thierry on Sunday morning, had immediate results in forcing the Germans back from the extreme tip of the salient. The second enveloping movement is proceeding up the Ourcq valley and, at last accounts, was very near Oulchy-le-Chateau. The third is the advance south of Soissons.

Thus Foch has projected tentacles eastward to catch the Germans retreating from the Marne. If another claw is thrust out from the Rheims salient, the situation will become much more perilous for the enemy.

American Troops Yesterday Crossed the Marne and Captured Barbillion Wood

Gen. Pershing Reports Fresh Successes for Americans Between Aisne and Marne

LONDON, July 22.—American troops yesterday crossed the river Marne between Charleville and Gland, east of Chateau-Thierry, and captured the wood of Barbillion, according to authoritative announcement made here today.

Pershing Reports Success

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Fresh successes for the American forces in their drive between the Aisne and the Marne were reported in General Pershing's communique for yesterday, received today at the war department. The Americans were driving ahead with undiminished vigor and spirit, the statement said.

The communique follows: "Between the Aisne and the Marne, the day has brought fresh successes to our troops. With undiminished vigor and spirit they have continued to force the enemy to yield bitterly contested positions. In the fighting of the past few days, more than 8000 prisoners, more than 100 cannon and many trench mortars and machine guns have been taken by our divisions."

More than 6000 prisoners, over 100 cannon and many trench mortars and machine guns, have been taken by American divisions in the last few days on the Aisne-Marne front. General Pershing reports. This is accepted as meaning that the reference in Saturday's statement to 17,000 prisoners included those captured by both French and Americans.

"While taking Vitalitas but a short time no one could believe the wonderful results I have received from its use. The pains in my back are all gone, I rest well, eat well, have gained in weight, and get up in the morning feeling like a new woman. I certainly recommend Vitalitas to everyone. AMERICAN GAIN

Advance Over Mile South of Soissons—Huns Now in Precarious Position

Streams of German Prisoners Pour In—Soldiers From 10 Enemy Divisions Captured

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, Sunday, July 21 (Night)—(By the Associated Press)—South of Soissons, American troops today advanced two kilometers (about 1 1/4 miles). The allied artillery has found the range of the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry railroad, while American troops are outside the Soissons-Villers-Cotterets railroad. As a result, there is only one railroad line in the hands of the Germans south of a line drawn from Soissons to Rheims. Northeast of Belleau, northwest of Chateau-Thierry, the Americans early Sunday had made an advance of five kilometers. Some of the most terrific fighting since the offensive began occurred between Ciry and Vaux, the

COLD BROUGHT ON RHEUMATISM

Pain is the symptom of rheumatism that every victim recognizes but the physician appreciates that thin blood is a marked characteristic of the disease. Trying to cure rheumatism while the blood remains thin and weak is an almost impossible task because there is nothing to build on.

Mr. Harry L. Seaver of 69 Union street, Lynn, Mass., a carpenter, was subject to rheumatic attacks and his experience will interest others who suffer in that way. Mr. Seaver says: "I had rheumatism off and on for twenty years. My work at one time kept me out in all kinds of weather, and dampness and exposure caused my affliction. I had dull aching pains in the left shoulder and in the right knee. They were so severe at times that they made it impossible for me to rest at night. I suffered with headache, had dizzy spells and was nervous. My stomach was out of order. I learned of a person who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a treatment for rheumatism, and this decided me to try them. They helped me and relieved me of pain. They have never failed in my case and I have recommended them to many others."

In no disease does the blood show more altering and thinning than in rheumatism. No permanent relief is possible until the blood is restored and the rheumatic poisons are cast out.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store wherever you may live, or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price, fifty cents per box, six boxes for two dollars and a half by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Send for the free pamphlet "Building Up the Blood."

MATHEWS' OUTING A GREAT SUCCESS

The outing conducted by the Mathew Temperance institute at the Genoa club in Tyngsboro, like all other "Mat" affairs proved to be a success in every particular.

About one hundred members assembled first at the society rooms, and then marched to Merrimack Square, where a car for the K. of C. summer home was boarded. Upon reaching the beautiful grounds, the members "got down to fighting trim" and a program of great variety including sports of all kinds, a dip in the Merrimack and an appetizing dinner served by Caterer Lydon was enjoyed.

The first number on the program was a ball game between the married men and the single fellows, and the "alleged old bucks" put it all over the "kids."

As was expected it took the married men a few innings to get limbered up, but once they got the kinks out, they played rings around boys who call on Wednesday and Sunday nights. The lineup of the contending teams were not divulged until a few minutes before starting time, but when they were finally announced by Umpire Dan Sullivan, it was discovered that the single men had a college boy in the box, but this little thing did not worry the "rent boys."

The single men got the jump, and plied up eight runs before the other team sent a man across the counting station. But, Capt. Frank Riley, who was on the mound for the married men, held a short session with his men, and announced that the scoring must stop and that it was time for the married men to counter attack. They did, and scored 12 runs in one inning. The team batted around three times, and they might be going yet, only that they tired of circling the bases. After getting the lead, they went up to the bat and went through a wand drill in order to end the agony. More runs were scored but they came so fast that the official scorer couldn't count them.

The battery work of Joe Sullivan and Frank Riley for the winners, was regular. Big league stuff, while the fielding of George Sullivan and Barney Tuohy for the boys who went "over the top," would make Ty Cobb "Work or Fight."

Following the game the players took a dip, after which dinner was served. Later a number of races were run on the "Tight" was out for a prize and while he worked hard to bring home the bacon, he failed to land. The hundred yard dash, which was won by Pat McGowan, was one of the best events on the card. The three legged race, the shoe race, the jumping events were all well contested and some good records made.

Then a "regatta" ball game was played between the Mathews and the St. Peter's A.A. This proved to be a crackerjack, going into extra innings. It was a great pitchers battle until the eleventh, when Barrett of the "Maths" weakened, and the St. Peter's boys plied up six runs, making the final count, 9 to 3.

After a brief honeymoon trip the couple will make their home in Crowley street, this city.

Poulin—Mignault
Mr. Fortunat Poulin and Miss Melvina Mignault were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated in the chapel of St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Athanasius Marion, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Messrs. Alfred Gagne and Calixte Boucher. At the close of the ceremony the bride, partly repaired to the home of the bride, 267 Pawtucket street, where a wedding breakfast was served. The couple left at noon on a brief honeymoon trip and upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Boisvert—Gulmette
The marriage of Mr. Arthur Boisvert and Miss Marie Louise Gulmette, two well known young people of St. Joseph's parish, took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I. The bride was attended by her cousin, Mr. Adam Guilmette, while the bridesmaid's witness was his father, Pierre Boisvert. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, 62 Hall street, where they will make their home upon their return from a honeymoon trip.

Brier—Wolfson
A very pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Rabbi Wolfson, 116 Howard street, when his daughter, Miss Ada Wolfson was married to Mr. Samuel Brier, of Providence, R. I. The bride is the third eldest of a family of eight girls, and there now remain five younger sisters at the home of the groom. The ceremony took place at 8:30 and the couple were joined in marriage by Rabbi Elias Wolfson. Mrs. A. Marcus of New Brunswick, N. J., sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor and Mr. Harry Brier of Providence, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a gown of white bridal satin with pearl trimmings and old-fashioned lace, which has been in the family for many years and which was worn by Mrs. Marcus at the very large wedding which was held in Association hall a few years ago. The veil was made entirely of sheer duchess lace. She carried a beautiful large shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor was dressed in black net with jet trimmings. At the reception which followed the guests enjoyed a full course dinner, at which Mr. Marcus was toastmaster. The house was prettily trimmed with palms and patriotic hunting. The guests included only the immediate relatives, who came from Canada, Providence and Boston. Benjamin Brier, a young brother of the groom, a soldier here at Camp Meade, came up from Maryland to be present at the wedding. Mr. Samuel Brier is treasurer of the Brier Jewelry Co. of Providence, and after the honeymoon the happy pair expect to make their home in this city.

The bride was a very popular member of the T.W.M.A. of this city and was a leader in the many good works previous to her marriage. The gifts received were many and beautiful. The couple left Lowell on the 9:45 train for Boston. Their final destination will be Saratoga Springs. They will be at home to their friends after Sept. 1.

The town of Jerome, Ida, 10 years ago a desert, from a population of only 1000 furnished 139 men to the nation's fighting forces, over-subscribed the third Liberty loan the first day at 9 a. m. and raised $9000 at a Red Cross sale. An American flag brought $1450.

City Hall News

feasible and will save the city a great deal of money, conserve fuel and prove satisfactory all around according to a statement made at a meeting of the municipal council this morning by Commissioner Francis A. Warnock.

The plans for the new heating and lighting system have found origin in the present crisis which the city is facing in the matter of providing heat for the school and Memorial building. The boilers in the basement of city hall have been practically condemned by the state inspector and he says that after repairs which will cost thousands of dollars have been made on the boilers, he will allow them to run at not more than 15 pounds pressure. That will mean that there won't be enough power to keep the building warm.

At this morning's meeting Commissioner Warnock recommended that estimates up to the cost of two 72-inch boilers, a 75 horsepower Ames engine with a generator and one 8 horsepower motor, together with the expense of installation, be obtained. It was voted that Commissioner Warnock should get the estimates and present them at the next meeting of the council, if possible.

Mr. Warnock said that these boilers could be run at as much as 120 horsepower and would burn a ton and a half less coal every 24 hours than the boilers which are now in city hall usually run. At the same time, he maintained that the boilers and supplementary fixtures will pay for themselves within eight or ten years, because the electric lighting bill for the various buildings to be supplied according to the new plans, will be wholly wiped out.

This morning's meeting was original.

ly scheduled to come to pass tomorrow morning, but owing to the fact that members of the council will be in Boston tomorrow in connection with the charter hearing, the session was pushed forward to today.

The meeting was called at 10:05 with Commissioner Brown absent, but he came in later.

A petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation that it be allowed to maintain a pole at Loring and Branch streets was held over for a hearing Sept. 3.

The petition of Louis Poissant to be allowed to keep gasoline at 136 Dalton street was read and date for a hearing set for Sept. 3. The same action was taken in a similar petition of Otto Allen & Sons Co.

A report of the license commission was accepted and placed on file. A report was received on the petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. to re-locate poles from the east to west side of Central street near North street and was adopted.

Double Payment
A recommendation from the board of assessors that the sum of $72.72 be paid Larkin T. Trull as a refund on taxes paid during the years from 1911 to 1916 inclusive for property in Clark road was accepted and it was voted to pay Mr. Trull the amount in question. It was explained that the land had been transferred temporarily to Carl D. Burtt during the years in question and Mr. Burtt had paid the taxes. A communication from Albert P. Langtry, secretary of the commonwealth, in regard to a certificate of incorporation being filed with him by sundry individuals for the establishment of a spiritualistic church in this city, was referred to the mayor.

Upon the suggestion of government agents who have been studying the traffic situation near the Middlesex station, it was voted to adopt an amendment to the traffic ordinance passed by the council July 2 and this amendment will provide for the regulation of traffic between the railroad tracks and Howard street.

Upon recommendation of the city solicitor it was voted to pay Jessica Carr the sum of $350 in payment for personal injuries received on Mt. Vernon street on Sept. 20, 1917.

An amendment to the wording of the supplementary budget ordinance passed by the council June 29 was introduced by Commissioner Donnelly and was passed. The change is one of phraseology only.

The Boiler Question
Commissioner Warnock read the reports received from an inspector of the Maryland Casualty Co., which carries insurance on city hall and also from the state inspector of boilers, Edwin A. Mores, which were submitted after an inspection of the three boilers in city hall. Mr. Warnock said that the recommendations of Mr. Mores meant, in effect, that the boilers were practically worthless as far as heating purposes were concerned.

"If the city of Lowell desires to save fuel," he said "it will have to install two six foot boilers; these will not only save fuel but the power may be utilized, various ways."

"In 1917 the electric lighting bills for city hall and Memorial building totaled $2004.57. That was even when we were doing our best to conserve fuel and the lighting was not being used to its fullest extent."

"There is no reason why we can't have our own heating and lighting plant in city hall which will provide power to light city hall, Memorial building, the high school and the Green grammar school in Merrimack street. I have asked for estimates on the proposition and I expected to have them for the meeting of the council which was to have been held tomorrow. I will have them at the next meeting of the council."

Upon a suggestion received from T. H. Harkins, an engineer, Commissioner Warnock then made the following recommendation:

"I would recommend that two 72-inch boilers with shaking grate be installed and also the changing over of the heating coils in the heating plant."

And for the lighting of city hall and Memorial building a 75 horsepower Ames engine with generator and one eight-horsepower motor. The Ames engine would supply power for five electric motors and electric power for the elevator. This would conserve about 1 1/2 tons of coal in every 24 hours."

Mr. Warnock then added that the high school and the Green school could also be heated from the central plant. "At present the boilers burn 35 tons of coal in a week and the new installation would mean a saving of 18 1/2 tons weekly."

"Something has to be done right away," continued Mr. Warnock. "The water department building in West Sixth street has its own lighting plant and there's no reason why we can't have it here."

It also explained that one of the boilers now in use might be retained as an auxiliary boiler to be used while the new ones were being cleaned, etc.

Mayor Thompson said that every effort had been made to have the inspector allow the city to use the boilers for another year but to no avail. He then proposed a motion that Commissioner Warnock be instructed to bring in estimates for the proposed installation at the next meeting of the council and it was so voted.

It was voted that all hearings which were scheduled for tomorrow be postponed until a week from tomorrow.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM LOWELL SOLDIERS IN THE WAR ZONE

Sergeant Daniel P. Brennan of Co. M, 101st Infantry, writes a most interesting letter to a member of The Sun staff. He tells of his unit going over the top for the first time. Two Lowell boys, Sergeants Bob Glinville and Jack Wallace, were mentioned in divisional orders as a result of the battle. The news that Glinville had been awarded honors came here before but that of Wallace's achievement was not known. The letter follows:

June 15, 1918.
Friend George: Here I am again. No doubt it's been a long time between letters, but I received your letter about a month ago. I guess it traveled all over France before finally getting to the right party. I was more than pleased and that is putting it mildly for we have not had any mail for weeks. I haven't seen Jack Griffin to speak to since we were up on the Chemin de Dames. I had charge of a bunch of boys who had to guard the machine gun positions at night so while visiting the relief I got talking to the situation over with the gun crew when I found out that Griffin was one of them. I found out that he knew you. We had a great talk. I understand he's a sergeant now and a non-commissioned officer in a machine gun battalion is a responsible position. I feel safe in saying that he's the man for the job. Now we'll go from the ridiculous to the sublime. I suppose you would like to hear a little news about old Co. M. Well, thus far things are going along smoothly as far as the company is concerned, but the town we are in now gives the boys the opportunity to irritate us. Every evening when the sun goes down, the Germans start sending shells over, and they sure do come. They mix gas in it as well as high explosives. The alarm is given and it means gas masks on for some time. The boys do loathe wearing masks.

IT STOPPED MY SUFFERING

Said Mrs. Jaynes, Speaking of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Anderson, S. C.—"I got into an awful condition with what the doctors said was an organic displacement. I would have pains so badly that they would have to put hot clothes on me and give me morphine. The doctor said I would never be any better without an operation and I would never have any children without it. A neighbor who knew what your medicine would do advised me to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did so and it made me a well woman and the next September I gave birth to a healthy baby boy."—Mrs. SALLIE JAYNES, 37 Lyon St., Anderson, S. C.

The letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Loyalty Islands, which lie in the Pacific to the east of Australia, are famous for their fur money. ## AMERICANS CONTINUE TO GAIN, SAYS PERSHING

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Breaking down the resistance of the Germans between the Alsne and the Marne, American troops have continued their advance and taken many additional prisoners, says Gen. Pershing's report for Saturday, received yesterday by the war department.

The report follows:
"Section A—Between the Alsne and the Marne our troops again broke the enemy's resistance and continued their advance, taking many additional prisoners."
"Section B—There is nothing to report in this section."

Despite counter-attacks and rear-guard actions of a desperate nature, the Americans advanced steadily early yesterday, says the report.

The towns of Courmelles, Rozet-St. Albin and Maubry had been entered by the Americans before 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

HEAT PROSTRATIONS

The intense heat proved to be too much for two residents of Lowell Saturday night. He was overcome at 7:45 o'clock near Lennon's saloon in Market street. He was taken to his home in the ambulance.

REPLIES TO VON HERTLING

Harden Dissues Statement Made by German Chancellor Concerning Belgium

AMSTERDAM, July 22.—"This is a question of decency, morality and honor," says Maximilian Harden, in discussing in Die Zukunft, the recent statement made by Chancellor von Hertling concerning Belgium.

try be regarded as independent which before its return must undertake to adopt its policy and economy and consequently its entire state of life to the will of an enemy power still ruling its soil; which must guarantee that power against British, French and American thrust for revenge and must even be friends of that power and grant it privileged confidence?

"International law forbids Belgium to retain even one pebble of Belgian streets and commands Germany to restore Belgium to the conditions before invasion. Is Belgium, as a chancellor, a state secretary and an ambassador have confessed, an innocent victim of German self-defense? Then we should ask its forgiveness and not force conditions upon it."

MOTHERS' DAY AT BOY SCOUTS' CAMP

"Mothers' day" at the Boy Scout camp took place last Thursday, and the mothers certainly enjoyed it. They were taken to camp in a large truck in the early afternoon and spent the afternoon in inspecting the camp, and watching the boys going through the various forms of activity for which the camp is rightly famous, including the afternoon's swim. In the evening after luncheon had been served, a fine entertainment was enjoyed, under the direction of Scout Phillippe Molle, consisting mostly of songs and stories. "Good Night, Mothers," was the closing piece, after which the "mothers" embarked for home. Another visitation occurred Friday, when the national officers, headed by Camp Inspector McDonald, appeared on the scene. Mr. McDonald pronounced the camps in ideal shape, and made some very flattering comments regarding the results of the boys' handiwork. Miss Dorothy Quincy Wright has consented to give the boys a talk on "Bees," and as she is thoroughly familiar with her subject, a treat is in store for her listeners. All visitors are welcome any day at all times.

DOUBLE DROWNING AT CRYSTAL LAKE

A double fatality occurred when George Wilson and his wife Catherine, were drowned about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Crystal Lake, near their home. Mrs. Wilson was taking advantage of the shallow water at that point by wading a few feet off shore, but she must have stepped into deep water, for her husband who was sitting on the bank saw her struggling and hastened to her aid. Although he succeeded in reaching her, he did not succeed in bringing her ashore, and both went down. Mr. Wilson and his wife resided on Princeton street, North Chelmsford, and are survived by four children. The bodies were brought to the undertaking rooms of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons of Lowell.

VICTORY PARADE

Patriotic Demonstration by
Operatives of the United States Cartridge Company

Street Parade, Speeches and
Music on the South Common—Speaker Overcome

Several thousand employees of the U. S. Cartridge Co. paraded through the downtown streets of the city Saturday evening and later assembled on the South common to sponsor a most inspiring patriotic program, all to demonstrate publicly that they were behind the men "over there" who have been winning great victories during the past few days.

Shortly after 7.30 the line of march got under way from outside the Market street plant and headed by the Cartridge Co. band proceeded through Market to Dutton, to Merrimack, Moody, Cabot and back to Merrimack street. At city hall they were reviewed by members of the municipal council.

The route then continued down Merrimack to Central, Middlesex and Thorneike streets to the South common. Edward Read was chief marshal and the marchers made a most inspiring showing. Kidding at the head of the procession in automobiles were officials of the company and invited guests. A large American flag was carried outstretched by some of the marchers and a large amount of money for the Red Cross was contributed by the people who lined the streets.

Upon arrival at the common the marchers assembled around the bandstand and after a number of selections by the band Walter Clough took charge of the meeting and introduced Mayor Perry D. Thompson as the first speaker.

The mayor congratulated the marchers on their patriotic showing and urged them to maintain the standards which they set for themselves in the matter of backing up the men at the front. He said that Lowell had always responded to the call of the nation when in need and that the city would not fail the present crisis if every man and woman did his or her share.

Corp. Frank A. H. Street, a young American who has seen three years' service with the Canadian forces, was introduced and was given a rousing reception. In opening, he told of the difficulties which he experienced in enlisting in the service and later his early adventures in the Canadian army. He emphasized the fact that this war did not belong to any two or three nations exclusively. We are all in it and should take our proportionate share of interest in it. Speaking of the British, he said that 300,000 Britishers had been killed in 1917.

He said the outcome of the war would depend in a large degree on the amount of production which the people at home would furnish the armies at the front and he urged that every one of the workers at the Cartridge shop do their part to keep up that production.

Nearing the conclusion of his address Corp. Street was evidently overcome by the heat because he staggered and was caught before he fell. He was later revived, however.

The evening's celebration closed with the singing of the national anthem.

Securing the Speaker
Corp. Street was secured for the occasion through the national service section of the United States Shipping board, of which Dr. M. M. Graham, who rode with Corp. Street in the parade, is district service manager, and he proved a pinch hitter when, upon a few hours' notice, he supplied a speaker who had seen service "over there."

The service represented by Dr. Graham was organized last January, for the distinct purpose of carrying on a campaign of education and inspiration among the men and women employed in munition plants and other places making war materials. It is doing splendid work and its organization was a happy thought.

THE STATE GUARD

Local Companies Will Leave
Thursday for Tour of Duty
at Framingham

No Visitors Are Allowed at
Camp Devens Before 3 or
After 9 P. P.

Next Thursday the local companies of the State Guard will leave for a tour at Camp Gardner, Framingham. The soldiers will find their company streets staked out but beyond that the matter of getting settled will be entirely in their own hands. They will have to put up their own tents, dig their ditches and whatever other work is part of any well organized camp.

Every member of the local companies will be obliged to attend the camp unless excused by reason of a doctor's certificate. On Wednesday afternoon mess details will leave Lowell to prepare the way for the other soldiers. The Lowell company will go to camp by train.

The 11th regiment of the State Guard is in camp at the present time and several Lowell officers have visited it to see the camp in actual operation.

Lowell people who are planning to visit the camp when the local companies get there are warned that no visitors are allowed before 3 p. m. or after 9 p. m. Local employers are reminded that the tour of duty is obligatory and not optional and they should not hesitate to grant any of their employees who are members of the guard permission to leave their work.

AMERICANS DOWN TWO MORE HUN AIRPLANES

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sunday, July 21.—(By The Associated Press)—Two more German airplanes are reported to have been brought down Saturday by American aviators. Neither report has been confirmed officially.

One machine was brought down by Lieut. David E. Putnam, Newton, Mass., the other by Lieut. Baker Brody Freeman.

LOCAL THEATRE MANAGERS
SUBORDINATE ORGANIZATION
OF BOARD OF TRADE

The local theatre managers have been formed into a subordinate organization of the board of trade through the efforts of Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the board. The purpose of the organization is to provide clean amusement for the people of the city and to uphold the standards of the Lowell theatres.

Articles of organization have been drawn up by Secretary O'Rourke and it is felt that the managers will find in the new body a powerful agent for the protection of their interests.

The following officers have been chosen: President, Walter E. Nelson; vice-president, Benjamin E. Pickett; secretary, John J. O'Rourke.

600 MEMBERS OF THE HARVARD
RESERVE OFFICERS' CORPS
BEGIN TRAINING

CAMBRIDGE, July 22.—Six hundred members of the Harvard reserve officers' training corps left here today to march to Lancaster, where the corps will be in camp undergoing arduous training for the next six weeks. The organization is made up not only of university students, but prominent alumni of recent years, including several athletic stars. The corps will have the use of some of the equipment at Camp Devens, a few miles distant from Lancaster and also the advice of some of the officers at the cantonment.

THE OBSERVANT LADY

Know the reason for the large smile on the faces of residents on Rogers street up near Nesmith street? They are feeling quite pleased over the fact that they have a new granolithic sidewalk, and they won't have to pick their way along to their door-steps, wondering how many little cobblestones are leaving their mark upon their rubber-soled shoes.

I notice that an afternoon tea or social half hour is enjoyed by a large party of pigeons located at the city hall, when they remain home, but whose rendezvous is in a tenement district close to some of our large mills. I was told by their host that they never fail to come. Every day he meets them with a supply of bread and they are never late for lunch.

I think it would be a fine thing if someone clothed with proper authority were to suggest putting in lockers at the swimming pool booths on the Merrimack river. These booths which originally served as temporary voting booths are visited by a number of men, women and children, and I know they would enjoy their swimming much better if they could, perhaps, for a few of 5 or 10 cents, have a locker of their own, and be quite certain that they were going to take their own coat or hat home with them, on the return journey.

Don't get over alarmed if you should overhear, by accident, a remark such as this from a tired business man, talking over his neighbor's affairs with his wife: "The fools are not all dead yet," and she answers: "that's as sure as you live." The husband, of course, did not take the remark as directed at himself.

I have come to the conclusion that the rising generation has heard so much about "Hooverizing" in their homes, that it has taken hold of their economic sense to the same degree as it has the housewife. A young lad selling papers noticed that all the "spring water" was fast leaving a large carbon, the stopper having come out, whereupon he decided to save the water even if he had to stand and hold his hand over the top of the bottle until somebody would show up to relieve him or cork the bottle. In the meantime, perhaps, this thought was running through his mind:

"Save the crumb
And you save the loaf.
Save the loaf
And you save the wheat.
Save the wheat
And you save the ships.
Save the ships
And you save the men.
Save the men
On land and sea, and thus you
Save your country."

NASHUA AUTO HITS POLICE
PATROL—WAGON OFFICER
FEELS THE JAR

A collision between an automobile owned by Herbert D. Oliver of Nashua, and the local police patrol, occurred Saturday evening at 11.30, while the latter vehicle was on its way to the Tremont and Suffolk mills. The patrol was proceeding up Moody street and was just crossing that thoroughfare when the Nashua auto, which was going in an opposite direction, struck the patrol near the rear axle. The wagon officer, John Hickson, experienced a severe shaking-up.

TERRIBLE LOSSES WERE SUSTAINED BY ENEMY

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE, July 20.—(By Associated Press)—1 p. m.—The French and Americans have broken through the German line northwest of Chateau-Thierry.

An attack from Chateau-Thierry to Rheims began Saturday. American forces captured hill 183, north of Vaux, and advanced more than two kilometers. At last accounts they were holding their own against German resistance.

The German retreat across the Marne began Friday, under cover of a great smoke screen. At last accounts great hordes of Germans were continuing north.

Organized resistance has been met with so far only at a few places. The allied troops have taken many prisoners, including three officers, who said that they were tired of the war. American infantrymen captured two German 77's. Before the breaking of the German line the Germans had been with the desperate machine gunners who were mowed down as the allied reinforcements arrived. The German losses were terrible.

The French and Americans driving the spearhead toward the northeast have advanced 3-10 miles at various places.

The district south of the Marne and east of Chateau-Thierry is entirely cleared of Germans. Two badly cut-up regiments were left south of the Marne in the German retreat. Allied aviators bombed the bridges across the river and their escape was impossible.

Allies Hammer Foo

All Saturday night the allies hammered away at the widening breach between the Germans and Paris as the Germans withdrew north of the Marne. Americans continue taking prisoners and guns. Allied reinforcements are pouring in to overcome any determined resistance the Germans may attempt. The heavy artillery of the allies continued yesterday the clearing of districts north of the Marne. Indian scouts who were with Pershing in Mexico played a prominent part in the scout work in the river regions.

FOOD COMMITTEE'S
WEEKLY SCHEDULE

The Lowell women's food conservation committee has issued the following schedule of activities for the present week:

Monday, July 22—Miss Everett and Miss Willard Parker, club leader, will meet the girls who wish to form a canning club at the Primitive Methodist church, Wigginville, at 7.30 p. m.

Tuesday, July 23—The Morey canning club will meet with Mrs. Howard Morton, club leader, and Miss Angus, the assistant club leader, at the Washington school at 9 a. m. At 2.30 at the war work headquarters, Mrs. L. A. Ayer, assisted by Mrs. C. MacDonald, will demonstrate the making of jam, using little sugar, and apple butter. She will also show the cold pack process of canning.

Wednesday, July 24—At 2 to 3 p. m. Mrs. Athanas Tyler and Mrs. George Hagerman will give free instruction to those bringing their own jars and products to the war work headquarters. Thursday, July 25—A m. Meeting of Miss Mary Kilpatrick's canning club girls at the war work headquarters. At 2.30 p. m. Miss Irene Burnham, of the U. S. department of agriculture and the Massachusetts Vocational college, will give a demonstration in drying and also have an exhibit contrasting dried and canned products. At 1.30 the Greenhalse canning club will meet at the school with their leader, Mrs. D. Burt Carroll. At 7.30 p. m. at the Girls' Vocational school Miss Everett and Miss Kolovich will meet a class of Polish girls for instruction in cookery. This work is in connection with the International Institute.

Friday, July 26—2 p. m. The Greek Girls' canning club will meet at the Girls' Vocational school with their leader, Mrs. Galatia Soutis and Mrs. Cunnner Talbot. At 2.30 Mrs. Burnham demonstrates drying as below.

Drying

So much is being done in other cities and towns in drying fruits and vegetables that we have asked Miss Burnham two days for the help and information to give the public. The following extract is from a bulletin on canning and drying put out by the National War Garden commission:

Vegetable and fruit drying have been little practised for a generation or more. Its revival on a general scale is the purpose of this manual. There is no desire to detract from the importance of canning operations. Drying must not be regarded as taking the place of the preservation of vegetables and fruits in tin and glass jars. It must be viewed as an important adjunct thereto.

Drying is important and economical in saving space. For city dwellers it has the special advantage that little storage space is required for the dried fruit. One hundred pounds of some fresh vegetables will reduce to 10 pounds in drying without loss of food value or much of the flavor.

This year's need for vegetable and fruit drying is given added emphasis by the shortage of tin for the manufacture of cans. This condition has created an unusual demand for glass jars. For this year, therefore, drying is of more than normal importance.

Practically all vegetables and fruits may be dried. The process is simple. The cost is slight. In every home the necessary outfit is already at hand. Effective drying may be done on plates or dishes placed in the oven with the oven door partially open. It may be done on the back of the kitchen stove with these same utensils while the oven is being used for baking.

The demonstration room is now equipped with eight new burners through the kindness of the Lowell Gas Light company, so we can accommodate 15 women at one time. We desire each woman to be responsible for the whole process and for that reason ask her to remove her jars from the sterilizer. Please make an appointment with Miss Everett, telephone 5728.

PLAN RETURN-LOAD
TRUCK BUREAU

Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the board of trade is working on a system of establishing a return-load truck bureau in this city and is collecting a list of names of local business houses and trucking men to make the bureau as inclusive and complete as possible. The idea is to provide loads for trucks which are leaving the city after delivering a load here and which ordinarily go away empty. The system also works on the out-of-town end so that Lowell men who deliver goods to some other city and are in the habit of coming home empty-handed may avoid this by coming in touch with Secretary O'Rourke and making arrangements for a return load. Mr. O'Rourke plans to make the system as efficient as possible and feels that he can do so with the co-operation of local business men who have trucking work. At the present time he is handling about a dozen calls a week.

MOTORCYCLIST IS FATALLY INJURED

Impolka Mieldzik, aged 25, of 28 Palm street, Nashua, was thrown from a motorcycle near the car house in First street, Saturday evening at 6.30 o'clock, sustaining a fractured skull and bruises and contusions about the face. He was removed to St. John's hospital where he died yesterday. The man, who was in the employ of the Nashua Manufacturing company, leaves a wife, Alice.

The cause of the accident could not be ascertained. A friend, John Kasper, of 41 West School street, who was also riding on the motorcycle, escaped injury.

DISLOYAL UTTERANCES ALLEGED

William Hughes, who was arrested for alleged disloyalty to this country after swimming across the Merrimack river at the U. S. Steel and Ordnance Co.'s plant in Middlesex street, Friday evening, was taken to Boston, Saturday, and appeared before U. S. Commissioner Hayes. He entered a plea of not guilty and his case was continued to July 29, his bail being fixed at $1,000. The prisoner was taken to Boston by Inspector Wilson.

LT. ROOSEVELT BURIED

American Aviator Buried
With Military Honors by
the Germans

AMSTERDAM, July 22.—The death of Quentin Roosevelt is confirmed by a Wolff bureau message from the front, according to a Berlin despatch received here. The message adds that young Roosevelt was buried with military honors by the Germans. The story of the fatal encounter as told by the Wolff bureau correspondent follows:

"On Sunday, July 14, an American squadron of 12 battle planes was trying to break through the German defense over the Marne. In the violent combat which ensued with seven German machines, one American aviator stubbornly made repeated attacks. The encounter culminated in a duel between him and a German non-commissioned officer who, after a short fight, succeeded in getting good aim at his brave but inexperienced opponent, whose machine fell after a few shots near the village of Chambray, 10 kilometers north of the Marne.

"His pocket case showed him to be Lieut. Quentin Roosevelt of the aviation section of the United States army. The personal belongings of the fallen aviator are being carefully saved with a view to sending them later to his relatives. The earthly remains of the brave young aviator were buried with military honors by German aviators near Chambray at the spot where he fell."

FOR PREPARATORY
MILITARY STUDY

Lowell young men who soon expect to go into the national service and have hopes of obtaining a commission are offered an excellent opportunity for preparatory military study in a prospectus received recently at the war work headquarters in Merrimack street.

The Military Training Camps association, with headquarters in Chicago, is behind the project and it has the approval of the war department. The camp which will next be opened for students is Camp Steever, Geneva Lake, Wis. A course of intensive military training under regular U. S. army officers lasting for two weeks beginning August 12 is open to any American citizen 18 years old or over. There is no maximum age limit. The applicant must have the endorsement of two business professional men and must have the approval of a physician as to his physical condition.

The cost of the two weeks' training is $30. The course is a wholly voluntary one and at its conclusion the students will not be obliged to enter further military service although that is the prime end for which the course is given.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained at the war work headquarters, 119 Merrimack street.

MORE EVIDENCE OF
GERMAN-IRISH PLOT

LONDON, July 22.—The Dublin correspondent of the Daily News says that a considerable quantity of what the government regards as useful and additional evidence of a German-Irish plot has just come to hand in the form of extracts from censored private correspondence between persons in Ireland and in America. Some of the detailed information as to times, places and quantities of munitions to be landed is understood to be remarkable.

LEGAL ADVICE FREE

It is really surprising how much the government is endeavoring to do for the soldiers and the families of soldiers, and yet it never can do too much. The war department has just announced that the judge advocate general of the army has worked out a complete system under which free legal and business advice will be given not only to soldiers, but to their families at home. The Red Cross will assist in this very desirable work so that everything possible will be done in this respect to aid the soldier and his immediate relatives.

THE ENDLESS CHAIN

To explain the present high cost of living it is necessary only to follow the endless chain by which prices are forced upward. The producer demands more for his work and his product; the consumer having to pay more demands more for his labor in whatever industry he is employed. Thus the price of labor goes up and then goes up in parallel lines the cost of the necessities of life. Thus the endless chain is kept in motion lifting the prices skyward, but there will be a crash some day—after the war, of course—and then the process will be reversed and continue to bring prices back to a normal basis such as existed before the war. Something similar will occur in every other country engaged in the war.

WORK OR FIGHT LAW

South Dakota goes Massachusetts one better in a work or fight law. That state has discovered that 80 per cent of its youth within the draft age are in perfect physical condition. But some of them are awaiting the call are employed at non-essential occupations while many outside the draft age have no occupations at all.

Hence South Dakota has passed a Work or Fight law compelling all men between the ages of 18 and 61 to work at some essential employment. The law also defines the essential and non-essential occupations. One of the latter is pool rooms and to this Secretary Baker has added baseball. If there is anything less essential than a professional pool shark, we don't know what it is, and South Dakota's action may be a precedent for other states in taking care of their loungers and other ornamental loafers.

THE NICKEL NURSES

Some of our comic artist friends have gone far out of their way to make sport of fellows who are not as loose as ashes with their money. They call them "nickel nurses." The "good fellow" spendthrift is given a niche several degrees higher than that upon which they place the "nickel nurse." In real life, it doesn't work out that way. Usually the "nickel nurse" has money when that proverbial rainy day rolls around. He owns his home. He educates his children. He has something laid by for Liberty Loans and Thrift Stamp investments. It is seldom that a nickel nurse's widow has to take to washing to support the children after their father has passed away. If it were not for the man who is as "loose as ashes" with his money, orphan asylums would have many vacant rooms.

In these times economy is the watchword. If we have any money to spare, we can put it to good use in meeting the various appeals which the war brings to all of us. Besides, the rate of wages is high at present and the demand for labor pressing, but after the war there will be a great change during the period of readjustment and reversion to ante-bellum conditions.

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

The democratic campaigners may as well make up their minds that they cannot cover Lawrence, Andover and Lowell in a single night. A flying tour of this kind may be excusable on the eve of election, but not at any other time.

It might be possible to cover Lowell and Woburn on the same night if proper arrangements were made in advance and so that the people of each city may know precisely the time and the place at which they can hear the speakers or meet the candidates.

At the rally held here last week in the interests of Richard H. Long, candidate for governor, Hon. Judge Riley of Malden had the very unpleasant task of speaking against time while awaiting the arrival of the candidate and other speakers. The judge is well equipped for an emergency of this kind; but when the delay runs into hours, it is not surprising that even his eloquence fails to hold all the people who want to go home. In such cases it is a mistake to assume that the candidate has covered Lowell. The local democrats want to hear all the candidates. Only a small number of them have heard Mr. Long.

IN THE WAR IN EARNEST

We are now in the war in earnest both on land and sea.

The loss of the U. S. cruiser, San Diego, probably as a result of a U-boat attack, shows that the danger has been brought to our doors.

The nation is deeply stirred by the events of the past few days. There is cause for rejoicing over the changed situation on the western battlefield; but the jubilation has been suddenly interrupted by the news of the sinking of an American cruiser right at our very doors.

This, of course, is war; it is but what is to be expected and for better or worse it will continue until the power of Germany is smashed beyond resurrection. It is gratifying to find that under the circumstances the loss of life has not been greater, but whatever it may be, it must be set down as one of the inevitable consequences of war. It will take a little time to overcome all these U-boats and ocean raiders; but they will be conquered with a certainty and a swiftness that will astonish the relentless enemy.

THE CAR SHOP MEN

The extemporaneous parade by the several thousands of workers in the Billerica car shops was one of the most unique events of the kind ever witnessed on the streets of Lowell. Unfortunately it came so suddenly on the people that the crowds along the sidewalks thought the men were on strike and merely gazed in astonishment as the paraders marched past, cheering behind their large American flag. The men of the car shops are a patriotic bunch.

They gave a splendid demonstration of their loyalty and their joy on hearing of the great victory won by the Allies. Had they notified the newspapers in advance, the people here would have been ready to give them a rousing reception. As it was, the parade was an eye opener to the people of Lowell. When next these men from the car shops come into Lowell on any such occasion the people must be prepared to give them the kind of reception they deserve. We shall prefer to see them, too, in their working togs with grimy hands and faces just as they quit work in the big shops. They were greatly misjudged when taken for a lot of hot-headed strikers. They are too patriotic to strike in these times.

CITY POLITICS

It is now in order for all who favor better city government than we have been getting, to bring some more acceptable candidates into the field than the average of those we have been voting for.

The voters however well meaning are helpless unless the right kind of candidates seek the nomination. It is true that very often out of a fair field the voters elect the most unacceptable candidates. That is the result of organized political work and not perversity or lack of vision on the part of the electorate.

In some cases under the present charter, weak or incompetent candidates have been elected because no other kind had been nominated and there was no alternative but to elect them. Municipal politics is in such bad odor of late that it is difficult to get strong business men to run. They realize that in a contest with a professional politician who has a political machine, the straightforward business man has a poor chance of success. Moreover, the business man has not the time nor the inclination to make a house to house canvass which is now the custom and one that should be discontinued.

Such are the considerations that have reduced our municipal politics to a very low level with practically no hope of redemption until we have a new charter such as provided under Plan B or that plan so modified as to give us primaries. Still Plan B works well in some other cities and would, we believe, bring about a great improvement in Lowell.

MILITARISM MUST BE CRUSHED

In this war as conducted by Germany, the whole world can see how the German people are used merely as so many cattle to be slaughtered to save the ambitions of the military junkers.

The young men are trained to the arts of war, and whenever the war lords decide to make war on other nations, the man power is drawn upon to be rushed in mass formation against the embattled forces of other nations with frightful loss of life. Moreover, the military leaders of Germany aided by the press, delude the people with false stories of victory always about to be achieved. These methods are well represented by the old cartoon that showed a donkey racing forward to catch a bundle of hay fixed so as to dangle in front of it, but always too far away to be reached.

President Wilson and the Entente Allies made a very clear distinction between the German militarists and the German people who are helpless victims of the Prussian system. Indeed President Wilson has laid it down as a condition of peace that this absolutism in Germany must be overthrown and popular government established under which the people will have some voice in shaping their own destinies; and as to whether they shall forever be held merely as common-fodder for the wars projected by the militarists.

The German people are to be redeemed from this state of abject thrall-dom at the close of this war; but it may be assumed that the Kaiser and his henchmen will hold to the system until it be completely crushed. If it be not crushed by this war, then every nation will become an armed camp and all will immediately start to train for the next war. That is why the German military system, not Germany nor her people, must be crushed, so that the world will have an opportunity to pursue the arts of peace without the perpetual dread of being plunged at any moment into the unspeakable horrors of war.

The Hun proposes to possess world-power. His present position has aroused a mad lust for more, like the all-consuming fierceness of the alcoholist's thirst. He designs to colonize, kulturalize, terrorize and Germanize the peoples of the earth. With the Allies, possession involves neither power nor dominion. In the words of Jefferson, to possess the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness sums up the allied platform of war.

There are a few brain lords who think. The rest of us try to think.

A green conductor, the pay as you enter order, reverses and the zone system constitute a combination that's enough to try the soul of any man.

Time-Tested Way

Incarcerating offenders is the wrong idea. We ought to try to prevent crime.

Just so, said the old-fashioned judge. And you can prevent lots of crime by putting the right people in jail.—Kansas City Journal.

Twana Some Cheer

The members of the Crescent Athletic association are still talking about that remarkable outburst of enthusiasm that greeted the call for cheers in recognition of the big American victory "over there." Well they might, for seldom has such a demonstration occurred in this city. The entire assembly, seven hundred strong, was on its feet like a flash, and the unanimity and vociferousness of the cheers resounded through the spacious auditorium, like the roar of cannon. The evening's entertainment though a splendid one, was entirely forgotten and for a time all thoughts were transferred to the battlefield. Old men and young men were there, and each vied with the other in an endeavor to more forcibly express his appreciation of the great work of our boys across the seas. The demonstration was one that will not soon be forgotten by the participants.

to the registry of deeds building to put some kind of a barrier to prevent pigeons from roosting over the entrance to the building, where they have made a nuisance of the front and the steps.

While the carpenters were at work tearing out the nests and the accumulation that the pigeons had taken up over the entrance, some remarks were made that it was cruel to deprive the pigeons of a home. But the carpenters kept right on with their work. Recently the handsome circular globe in front of the registry of deeds building, one on either side of the entrance, have been rather mysteriously broken, and it could not be determined how it was done, until Janitor Bennett of the building set out to watch.

The result of his sleuth work was the discovery that the pigeons who were making a home over the entrance were the guilty parties. They were seen finally knocking off some object from their roost which broke one of the globes. It was discovered that they had either taken up some large nail or some large nails had been left over the entrance, and they were sufficiently heavy enough when they fell on the globes to break them. As the globes cost $15 each and the pigeons had broken four, it was thought that the treasury of Bristol county was not large enough to keep furnishing $15 globes for the pigeons to shoot nails at, and hence the pigeon nuisance will be eliminated at this registry of deeds building.—New Bedford Standard.

Working Against Work

We were coming down the street the other afternoon a couple of hours before the street car crush started, and we saw a middle-aged woman with a shawl over her head, old time "leg-of-mutton" style coat, uneven hanging skirt, and flat shoes. Waiting for a car she looked as though she just finished the daily week's washing of one of her customers in that neighborhood. The car came mooping along, she stepped out off the curb and signaled for it to stop. There wasn't a car just behind it, and the motorman wasn't trying to make up time, he was just juking along, and he looked the other way as he passed her up. Bird has let it alter through his gable just. What the "Work or Fight" Order means!

Male Builds Nest

After pairing, the ostrich begins to make his nest. It is the male alone that performs this duty. To do it, he squats upon the ground, and, balancing himself upon his breastbone, scratches up the earth with his legs and throws it behind him. When he has dug out enough on one side to suit him he turns round and begins to dig on another side, and continues this operation until he has made a hole large enough for him to sit in comfortably. A few days after the nest is finished the female begins to lay one egg every alternate day for 15 or 20 days. She then rests for a while, which time varies from four to 10 days, and then lays more.

A pair of ostriches yield about 40 eggs, though it is not unusual for a well-fed well-kept pair to yield 50 to 60 eggs. The eggs are placed so as to leave no space between them. The male and the female brood alternately. At night the male is always on the nest, as it possesses greater warmth than the female.

These birds perform their duties with the greatest skill, without a noise or breakage of the eggs. The incubation lasts 45 days, but never continues beyond that. When the chicklings hatch out they can be heard trying to break the shell of the egg.

Sometimes they succeed in doing so, but usually the father breaks the egg under the breast bone, tears the inside skin with his bill, and frees the chickling. Upon first reaching the air the chickling remains limp and weak. But the warmth of the parent soon revives it, and a few hours afterward it begins to run about, exercising its long legs, tottering over at each step, and recommending again its stumbling journey. Four days after their hatching the chicklings begin to eat. They run after insects and swallow small pebbles. The father and mother do not help their little ones to find food.—Buffalo Commercial.

Death in France

If I should die while I am yet in France Before the battle-clouds have rolled away Give me to feel that death will but enhance Life's secret vision on its passing day. Grant then to me now, individual power In reverie, whilst whimsically I trace Thro' eager, breathless youth, each The light and shadow on its fading face. And in death's soonest minute let me seek Life heightened by new splendor, poise, surprise, New color flushing deep its paling cheek, New wonder looking from its tired eyes. Time's brought a rare patine to old Romance— Death has an ancient dignity in France, Fighting Men—

BIG SUNDAY CROWD AT REVERE BEACH

REVERE, July 22.—Ideal weather brought out one of the largest crowds of the year on the beach yesterday. At the state bathhouse, 9134 persons went in bathing, of whom 3185 were women. This total is within 81 of the record number going in from the bathhouse in the 20 years it has been established. There were also enough bathers from cottages, hotels and automobiles to bring the total number of bathers for the day close to 20,000. It was a great day, too, for automobiles, it being estimated that fully 1000 passed along the boulevard until it was closed at 1 o'clock, and then along North Shore drive. There was a gentle wind from the east that tempered the heat and the water up to 69 during the day.

There were few accidents and only one arrest. A young man was arrested for throwing a missile on the beach. A woman fainted while bathing and another sustained a sprained wrist by being run into by a boy.

A surprisingly large number of automobile bathing parties came, parking their cars on the boulevard north of Revere street. At times there were double lines waiting for suits at the bathhouses, the women's line extending around into Ocean ave.

COAL BULLETIN No. 20

For a month we have been pushing our Company and its plans before your vision and we have talked pretty loud at times, not because it is our nature to so express ourselves but because we want you to know that the Lajoie Coal Company is on earth and doing business at the old stand. By nature we are quite modest, though our ads. would not reveal that interesting fact to the casual reader.

Bye and bye our teams and trucks will be over-loaded delivering hard coal and at this time we wish to put out as much SOFT COAL as the law allows, so bring in your orders for steam coal. Our coal is as good steam coal as is brought into the city, barring none but New River, and next winter it will look as good as New River to you. We are sure we can give you satisfaction. We are filling up the bins of several important institutions and industrial plants and we would like to fill yours.

We are going to unload three cars of hard coal on our trestle today, and as the Government wants cars unloaded quickly we'll tell you our record.

Tomorrow we may publish a couple of letters we have. Not sure about it, but will let you know tomorrow.

BAKER AND CROWDER TAKE UP BASEBALL

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Secretary Baker and Provost Marshal General Crowder are considering today the advisability of extending the effective time of the work or night order as it applies to professional baseball players so as to permit the completion of the season.

San Johnson Hopeful

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 22.—President Johnson of the American league, shortly before noon today, announced that he had received advices from Washington that Secretary of War Baker and Provost Marshal General Crowder would meet at 2 p. m. to discuss the question of baseball being non-essential, pending further word from Washington, the meeting of the American league owners here to decide the fate of baseball would be postponed until 8.30 p. m.

With the exception of Washington, representatives of all the American league clubs had arrived here this morning.

President Johnson was an early arrival. "If the government considers baseball a non-essential, we will close up," he said. He added that a friend had wired him from Washington that the government probably would take action today to allow the clubs to finish the season. He said that the meeting, scheduled for noon, would be postponed until he heard from Washington. The American league association closed its season year play until further notice.

President Johnson late yesterday telegraphed all American league clubs to continue play until officially notified to quit. He said that the telegram was sent to give the players some notice but he was confident that the order to stop play until further notice would be sent out from Cleveland before tonight. He left last night for Cleveland.

JOAN OF ARC INCARNATES SPIRIT OF BELGIUM

(Miss Suzanne Silvercrux, daughter of the chief justice of Belgium, a pretty girl of 13, who witnessed the despoliation of her native land by the Germans, is touring America for the relief of Belgian babies. She is a modern Joan of Arc, fighting not with the sword, but with the power of her personal appeal to America to save her country from the Huns. She has won the hearts of thousands in this country—and their money, too. She has written for the Newspaper Enterprise Association and its members this article on "The Spirit of Belgium.")

By SUZANNE SILVERCRUX, Daughter of the chief justice of Belgium.

Little Belgium has suffered; oh, you could never imagine how my beloved little country has bled, but you must know that even if the Germans should kill every single one of us, to that last drop of blood, the spirit of Belgium would still be alive!

The Belgian people never realized how much they loved their country until it was in danger. When the Kaiser's ultimatum was sent to our king, saying: "Let us pass through Belgium and you will be paid; if you don't let us pass you shall suffer and die," every real Belgian rose and shouted: "They shall not pass!"

It was with that spirit that General Leman and 30,000 men of our small army held Liege for eight days against German invaders three times their number.

Slowly we had to go back, like a helpless child before an armed giant. We fought desperately, without hope of success, but in order to give the Lord's prayer.

She had reached this point: "Give us this day our daily bread. Forgive us our trespasses, as—"

But there her voice broke. She could not bring herself to complete the prayer for those who had despoiled Belgium.

A firm, solemn voice spoke behind her.

"As we forgive those who trespass against us!"

She turned. It was the king of the Belgians!

men return to work pending negotiations on their demand for increased pay. The polls were ordered opened at 4 p. m.

The continued absence of the cutters from their benches had resulted today in the idleness of 15,000 shoeworkers. The strike started a week ago.

Before boarding the "transports" however, the soldiers were formed in company file and lined up in front of St. John's hospital. Here they were photographed by The Sun photographer. Then the command "Forward" was given by Maj. Boyd and in less time than it takes to tell the gallant defenders were on their way to their "billets."

The soldiers will be in camp until Saturday afternoon and the usual features together with several innovations will be carried out during the days in the country.

The effect of the war on the annual encampment was noticeable. This afternoon in slightly reduced ranks but the old Cadet spirit was there and undoubtedly during the week will make up for any delinquency in numbers. Many of the soldiers wore the natty little trench caps which their older brethren who are now in France have written home so much about.

Thousands of people were here watching to see what was to be done. The crowd was the largest that has visited the beach in half a dozen years. Hundreds of automobiles were parked in different parts of the town.

All the deputies of Sheriff Haven O. Roberts was here, and a large force of state constables and town police was on hand, but had little to do. The immense crowd was orderly, not an arrest being made for the day.

SERIOUS REVOLTS ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT OF O.M.I. CADETS

Another unit of stalwart defenders left Lowell shortly before 1.30 this afternoon and for the next week will take an intensive course of study in the gentle art of besting the Hun. The O.M.I. Cadets, 125 of them, assembled at their armory at 1 o'clock this noon all bedecked in camp attire preparatory to leaving for their annual encampment at Milligan's Grove, Silver Lake, in Wilmington. Under command of Maj. Joseph F. Boyd, Jr., and the watchful eye of their chaplain, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., the soldiers assembled their luggage, arms and other equipments and were given final instructions before leaving for the front.

Shortly after 1.15 two jumbo electric cars came thundering up the East Merrimack street hill and awaited their cargo.

Before boarding the "transports" however, the soldiers were formed in company file and lined up in front of St. John's hospital. Here they were photographed by The Sun photographer. Then the command "Forward" was given by Maj. Boyd and in less time than it takes to tell the gallant defenders were on their way to their "billets."

The soldiers will be in camp until Saturday afternoon and the usual features together with several innovations will be carried out during the days in the country.

The effect of the war on the annual encampment was noticeable. This afternoon in slightly reduced ranks but the old Cadet spirit was there and undoubtedly during the week will make up for any delinquency in numbers. Many of the soldiers wore the natty little trench caps which their older brethren who are now in France have written home so much about.

Thousands of people were here watching to see what was to be done. The crowd was the largest that has visited the beach in half a dozen years. Hundreds of automobiles were parked in different parts of the town.

All the deputies of Sheriff Haven O. Roberts was here, and a large force of state constables and town police was on hand, but had little to do. The immense crowd was orderly, not an arrest being made for the day.

ILLEGALLY WALKING ON THE RAILROAD

The officials of the Boston & Maine railroad are up in arms against trespassers and as a result of their activities there was a small "crowd" of men in police court this morning to answer to a charge of illegally walking on the railroad tracks between Walker and Pawtucket streets.

There has been considerable damage done to train windows and other property of the railroad by people who travel through that section on the tracks and the officials have determined to put a stop to it. However, the B. & M. representative was satisfied that the men would be more careful in the future and their cases were placed on file by the court.

BY AHERN

Dear bro. Felix,
In Somewhere, Over There France.
Well Felix, I got your card this noon. Have they got you fellows on word rations or something? There wasn't nothin on it but th postmark, and I made out th blot on th bottom as your name. Is that th way you write it Flandore like, in muddy blots? I read it as I was eatin my lunch in a restaurant, and I finished th meal before your card. So you get a idea of th size of th cats we get now in restaurants, and also th length of your card. So short it didn't even have a shadow. In th restaurants now you get big plates and checks. Bring your own cats next. You go out with a appetite. They have signs hung up in front of th customers in th restaurants sayin, Don't waste food. They don't need them signs in restaurant kitchens, and hangin them out in front of th customers is their idea of a joke. On th way out customers take a toothpick just from force of habit. I went out to a bathin beach th other Sunday, and beln in war hasn't changed bathin beaches any. They still do all th swimmin on th sand, and divin at th hot dog pop counters. It rained in th afternoon and some of th girls got their bathin suits wet before they got time to put up their umbrellas. And there was one of those rasbos out in a canoe, y'know one of them clever guys who think it's comedy to rock a boat, and I'll bet he was exempted, but not on account of flat feet, huh? I went to a picnic and it rained all day, so you see everything is th same as always over here. Jitney cigsars now cost 6c and they taste like they was worth th extra cent only. Y'know Halloy's comet aint gonna show up this fall, but something else startlin like that might happen, cause the Cleveland American league ball team is makin a spurt and might win th pennant if Boston gets out of th way. Th Chi White Sox are satisfied for th next 10 years since they won th championship last year, and th Phil. Athletics are puttin up a good battle to hold onto last place with Detroit running a close 7th. Next year if th fight or work law goes in for big league teams, it won't be hard for th Athletics cause then they won't have to play any ball to hold onto last place, huh? Everybody over here has war gardens in their back yards raisin things, and so far th raisin has been done pretty good by th landlords raisin th rents. That's what sprouts in th landlords' gardens, th rent. Nearly everybody is gonna stay home this summer and be uncomfortable instead of goin away on vacations to enjoy beln that way. There's a chance for a fella to make money by goin around sellin crickets, mosquitos, poison ivy and things to folks who are gonna stay home for their vacation, huh? Well, Felix, I am sending you a eyecup in case you run across th clown prince Willie. Pull it down over his head and suffocate him. You may half to line it with cotton, so it will fit his head tight, huh? Listen, post cards is only hooks. When your wrist gets better throw me a line with some bait on it. I am feeling like a stove, grate. S'long and wrist watch your step. Your friend bro. Benny.

GREEK MINISTER

Hon. George Roussos, Greek Ambassador, Guest of Local Greek Community

Meetings at Greek Church and Associate Hall—Banquet in the Evening

Hon. George Roussos, minister of the king of the Hellenes to the government of the United States, was the guest of the local Greek community yesterday and during his brief stay in this city he was royally entertained. In the morning the distinguished visitor addressed his fellow countrymen at the Greek Orthodox church in Jefferson street, while in the afternoon he was the principal speaker at a mass meeting in Associate hall. In the evening he was tendered a banquet at Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street and at the close of the festivities he was taken over the road in an automobile to Peabody, where he was given another enthusiastic welcome by the Greek-speaking residents of that city. The distinguished visitor came to

HON. GEORGE ROUSSOS

Lowell at the request of the directors of the local Greek community and before leaving he accepted the invitation of Mayor Perry D. Thompson to return in September to study the conditions of his people in this city. He arrived in Lowell late Saturday afternoon and shortly after his arrival he was entertained at luncheon at the home of Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos in Middlesex street. The home had been handsomely decorated for the occasion with the national colors and Greek emblems, while flags of France and Great Britain were also much in evidence.

Hon. George Roussos has been at Washington as the ambassador of Greece since last September, and prior to that time he was the representative of the Greek government in Egypt. He is a lawyer by profession, an advocate of democracy and a man very capable in international affairs. He is unmarried and speaks French fluently, but his knowledge of the English language is limited. In conversation with a Sun reporter, Mr. Roussos said America is a great country and its people a great people. Pointing to the national colors he said: "That flag and the people it represents have never known defeat and never will."

Church Service

The morning service at the Greek Orthodox church was held at 10 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Agnostopoulos as the officiating clergyman. The congregation was very large and at the close of the service all listened with great interest to the address of the ambassador, who urged them to be loyal to their religion, their mother country and adopted country. During the service a special musical program was given by the regular choir.

At Associate Hall

President Costas Vargapoulos of the local Greek community presided over the afternoon mass meeting at Associate hall and the speakers were the ambassador, Carroll N. Brown, Ph.D., professor of Greek at the New York university; Dr. Demosthenes Generalis and Mr. Sacciarikos, the latter a distinguished orator and journalist, who is addressing meetings in various parts of the country in order to arouse patriotism in the hearts of his fellow-countrymen.

The hall, which was filled to the doors, was prettily decorated with Greek and national colors and when the ambassador marched through the center aisle he was roundly cheered. The Greek band was present and in the course of the afternoon American and Greek anthems were played.

Ambassador Roussos spoke in the Greek language and his address was in part as follows:

"In the few hours that I have been with you, visiting your homes and your places of business, I have found that you are faithful to your country, and also to this your adopted country. A man who does not first love his own country, cannot be loyal to America. I find you both law-abiding and faithful. America asks for no more. This country needs good, law-abiding citizens. There are a few among us who try to keep you divided. They are enemies to the country whose flag is at my right. (Cheers.)

"You should know that victory was ours from the beginning. We await only the extent of the victory. We were never losing. Beware of the man that tries to discourage you. Obey the starry flag that is going to lead you, and all, to victory.

"The latest news from the old country makes clear that the government which kept the Greek army hand-bound and made possible the destruction of Serbia is no more on Greek soil. Now, we want union. Union among ourselves, union with America, under this flag. Now we have the greatest man in our government—the greatest man in our history—Venezelos. (Cheers.) He tells you nothing but the truth. If he asks you for sacrifices he tells you the cause. Those that try to mislead you are seeking self-interest. If all free nations are pledged to sacrifices, you American Greeks ought to be among the first to so pledge. This country is yours, just as it is the country of the American people. I speak to you like a brother, like a father.

"In this war, sacrifices are needed. First, there is the blood sacrifice. This is the noblest sacrifice of all. After two wars of ours we might feel exhausted; but this last is the most necessary war of all. All are called upon to sacrifice, young and old, men and women, boys and girls. No one should be exempted. This war is unprecedented in human history, in its sacrifices.

"Second, there is the sacrifice of labor. This war has no respect—must not have respect—of sacrifices. Look at the American people, how they pledged in one day, with one heart, for this great nation. Remember that our boys in Turkey are being made Mohammedans, turned from the Christian religion! Remember that our girls are shut in the harems of the young Turks, and the mothers who do not appeal to the sensual fancy of the Turk, are killed, cold-handed!

"Third, there is the money sacrifice.

As you know, the old imperial regime in Greece has spent all the money. The treasury was empty when the new government came into power.

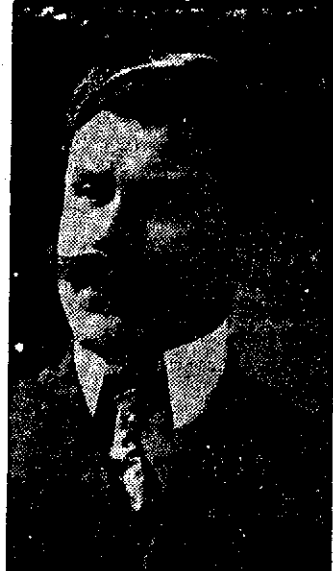

The Greek Red Cross has no money. The American Red Cross looks after our heroes. It needs your money. You are fortunate to live in this patriotic country. You read in the papers of the successful Red Cross campaigns. Now, I urge you, brothers, to bury self. Bury it deep, and put up in its place this country, your country, and the cause of both countries, the cause of freedom. United among ourselves with this country, we become impregnable."

At the close of his address the visitor asked for three cheers for America, for Greece, for President Wilson, for King Alexander and for Venezelos, saying "we make no separation, we are all Americans now." The audience rose and gave three loud cheers and a tiger.

The next speaker was Carroll N. Brown, professor of Greek in the New York university, who addressed the audience in its own tongue, and his remarks were listened to with great interest.

At the close of Prof. Brown's address Dr. Generalis offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"To His Excellency Premier Venezelos of Greece: We, the Greeks of Lowell, Mass., united in general assembly, with our ambassador as guest of honor, take pleasure in informing you that we are ready and willing to sacrifice by all necessary means, for the accomplishment of that purpose for which the allied nations are fighting. And we pledge also our loyalty to our adopted country, the United States of America. We are grateful to Your Excellency's government for sending this able ambassador to this great country, where so many of the Greek people are living in such prosperity. And we are grateful for his indefatigable efforts to explain to the young Greeks in America the fulfillment of the dream for which the Hellenic race is fighting now with the United States."

The last speaker was Mr. Cacerar, who spoke of the movement for democracy as being old as the day of Pericles. He extolled the success of Venezelos in uniting the Greek people in order to support the cause of the Entente allies in the struggle against Germany. This address was followed by loud cheering led by Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos and the meeting was brought to a close with band selections.

FOCH TRAP TO CATCH GERMANS

There are few details of the fighting between the Aisne and the Ourcq. It appears, however, that the reported advances of the allies south of the Aisne below Soissons, simply is the carrying out of the French strategic plan of keeping the Aisne on the French flank. The actual occupation of Soissons would be a matter of slight importance in comparison with the demoralization or capture of the German armies to the southward which appears to have been in General Foch's mind as a possibility when the smash on the German flank was begun by General Mangin on Thursday morning.

ALLIED "NUTCRACKER" CLOSING IN

If the allied "nutcracker" continues to close in, the remorseless manner that it has for the last three days, the Germans will be fortunate if they extricate all their forces from the Marne salient. Their railroad communications are virtually all under allied control or are under heavy fire. The tired and defeated Germans must retreat over wagon roads by way of Fere-en-Tardenois, or to the eastward of that place, and the task of bringing them safely out of the sack, in which they have been caught is a heavy one.

HUN MAY BE FORCED TO FLEE TO VESLE RIVER

Continued allied successes might compel a German retreat at least as far as the Vesle river. If this line is maintained by the Germans, General Foch will have succeeded in straightening out his front, which will then run in an almost direct line from Montdidier to the heights of the Meuse.

BRITISH GAIN EAST OF AMIENS

British forces on the northern side of the Picardy sector have gained further ground near Hebuterne, while east of Amiens, near Arras and in the Lys salient, raiding operations characterize the operations of the British during the last night.

FRENCH AND AMERICANS PUSH ON

In the past 24 hours, most progress has been made in the Chateau-Thierry sector. The enemy has been driven back about five miles eastward from Belleau and three miles northward from the Marne at Chateau-Thierry. Both the French and Americans have made notable progress in this region since the occupation of Chateau-Thierry Sunday morning.

AUSTRIAN CABINET AGAIN RESIGNS

The Austrian cabinet of Dr. Von Seydler again has resigned. It is reported that Emperor Charles this time will accept. The premier apparently has been unable to bring parliament into line so that it will pass necessary bills.

MARNE SOON TO BE CLEARED OF ENEMY

From the Ourcq to the Marne the Allied line now runs through La Croix, Grisolles and Epids, to Mont St. Pere, on the Marne, where the French have crossed the river. The Allied advance apparently is at a dinner held at Hamilton hall, Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street at 6.30 o'clock, at which about 50 prominent citizens of this city participated. The menu, which had been planned by John Brazacos, chairman of the general committee, was an elaborate one and was served by Lydon the caterer of Billerica and Lowell.

The post-prandial exercises were presided over by Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos, who in his opening remarks welcomed the visitors and paid a fine tribute to the visitor. He introduced as the first speaker Rev. Fr. Agnostopoulos, pastor of the Greek Orthodox church. The latter spoke in Greek, saying the Greek resident of this city all feel proud to have today as their guest a worthy son of Greece. He spoke of the gigantic struggle for democracy and concluded by advancing the hope that Old Glory will soon float over Berlin and the Greek flag over Constantinople.

Mr. John H. Harrington, proprietor

toward Fere-en-Tardenois, which is under heavy artillery bombardment, and if it continues, as it has begun, will soon see the Marne again cleared of the enemy. The Germans now hold but a small portion of the bank east of Chartres.

SOISSONS STILL HOLDS OUT

Astride the Ourcq and the Aisne, the Allied advance has been less rapid, but the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry road, except for small sectors here and there, is entirely within the Allied lines. Soissons still holds out, but the French seemingly are content to dominate it with their guns and thereby render it useless as a base, while saving themselves the danger of a flank attack, which might arise if they held the city.

BIG ALLIED GAIN SOUTHWEST OF RHEIMS

Next to the advance around Chateau-Thierry, the most notable development has been the forward thrust by French, Italian and British troops southwest of Rheims. On a front of six miles an average advance of about one mile has been made, the villages of Bouilly and St. Ephraise and the Rheims and Courton woods being cleared of the Germans. The Allies are meeting with strong resistance and the enemy is reported fighting hard to hold the thrust in check, as it is a serious threat to the German troops between the Andre and the Marne.

MORE GERMANS CAPTURED

The French official statements continue to report the results of the fighting briefly and calmly. There has been no announcement of any increase in the number of prisoners, though it is reported from the battle front that many more have been captured. Four hundred machine guns and 30 cannon were found in the German positions south of the Marne.

BERLIN ADMITS WITHDRAWAL

Berlin admits a withdrawal north and northeast of Chateau-Thierry after that across the Marne. Elsewhere, it says, the Allies have been repulsed with heavy losses. American troops are mentioned and it is claimed they suffered severe casualties. Admission that General Foch's counter blow was a surprise also is made, but the German staff does not mention definite points where fighting is progressing.

ALLIED GAINS IN ALBANIA

In Albania, in a resumption of their movement northward, French and Italian troops have taken the crest of the Mali Siloves, a mountain range in the bend of the Devoli river, south of Elbasan. Rome reports the total prisoners captured up to July 19, as 2167.

BRITISH GAIN BETWEEN

ALBERT AND ARRAS

LONDON, July 22.—Further ground has been gained by the British in the Hebuterne regions, on the front between Albert and Arras, the war office announced today. The British likewise, in conjunction with the French, carried out a successful enterprise to the south of Villers-Bretonneux, east of Amiens, in which prisoners were taken.

The German trenches were entered during the night by British raiding parties at several points on the front, including Neuville-Vitaz and north of Bailleul and prisoners were taken. The statement reads: "Further ground was made by our troops yesterday southeast of Hebuterne and a house bombing attack in this neighborhood was repulsed. We captured a few prisoners."

"In conjunction with French troops, we carried out a successful minor enterprise last night, south of Villers-Bretonneux, capturing a few prisoners and machine guns."

"Our raiding parties entered the enemy's trenches during the night at Neuville-Vitaz at Calonne-sur-la-Lys, and north of Bailleul and brought back prisoners. A hostile raid in the last mentioned sector was repulsed. "The hostile artillery was active in the Locré sector."

HUN COUNTER ATTACKS

BROKEN UP BY ALLIES

PARIS, July 22.—Strong counter attacks delivered last night by the Germans on the front between the Ourcq and the Marne were broken up by the allies, the war office announced today. The allied positions have been maintained.

The enemy blows were delivered in the regions of Grisolles, three miles northwest of Chateau-Thierry, and Regu-St. Germain, four miles north of Chateau-Thierry.

North of the Ourcq and between the Marne and Rheims, the enemy's reaction was limited to artillery fire. The fire was particularly notable in the region of the woods of Courton and Bol.

The statement reads: "During the night the Germans limited their reaction to artillery bombardments north of the Ourcq and between the Marne and Rheims, notably toward Fere-en-Tardenois, which is under heavy artillery bombardment, and if it continues, as it has begun, will soon see the Marne again cleared of the enemy. The Germans now hold but a small portion of the bank east of Chartres."

Word has been received in this city to the effect that Private James A. Foster, Company G, 301st Infantry, has arrived safely in France.

German Crown Prince Hemmed In by Allies Sends Call for Help

German Divisions From the North Rushed South in Attempt to Halt Allies

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Frederick William, the German imperial crown prince, has been obliged to call for help from his cousin, Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. German divisions from the army in the north have been hurried down to protect the western flank of the defeated army, which has been driven back over the Marne and ejected from Chateau-Thierry by Franco-American troops.

The region immediately south of Soissons forms the key to the German position and here the enemy has concentrated heavy forces for the purpose of holding back the advancing tide of the allies. The latter, however, continue their progress, although the fighting is becoming heavier each hour.

They have taken a large number of prisoners, the number being more than has been announced, and new batches of captives are arriving. The number of unwounded prisoners alone far exceeds the total casualties of the allied troops since the victorious advance began.

The correspondent has seen a large column of these prisoners coming in, and from their appearances they were certainly picked men.

The number of undamaged cannon which has been taken by the allies is very large and is constantly increasing. Large quantities of ammunition also have been captured.

The advance of the armies commanded by General Mangin and General De Goutte on this flank averages ten kilometers while General Bethelot, who is smashing at the other side of the pocket containing the defeated Germans, is also progressing appreciably. French, Americans, and British are working in closest co-operation and with absolute confidence.

THE RUGG BUILDING FOR BOARD OF TRADE

It has been virtually decided that the board of trade will move into the second floor of the Rugg building in Merrimack street, over the war work headquarters, in a short time. Sergt. F. R. Cox, in charge of the regular army recruiting station, has been given notice to vacate and he will take up new quarters over the Five Cent Savings bank.

At a meeting of the public safety committee held this noon the report of the proposed changes was read and as far as the war work phase of it is concerned, the committee approved it. The new quarters will prove ample for the various bureaus now housed under board of trade auspices and the advantage of a small assembly hall at the end of the building will undoubtedly prove beneficial. The presence of the war work headquarters on the floor below will also be of great convenience as the two bodies will be enabled to work in close co-operation in various forms of war work.

Hon. James E. O'Donnell presided at this noon's meeting of the public safety committee. Plans for a Serbian tag day in Lowell on August 12 were discussed and also the proposition to have Sergt. Ruth S. Farnham, an American woman who has seen service in the Serbian cavalry and who is known as the first American woman soldier, come to Lowell to deliver an address. It was voted to lay the matter on the table until the National War Relief bureau could be reached and see if it approves of the idea.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE APPEALS FOR HELP

(By The Associated Press)

Rear-guard actions are being fought by the Germans north of Chateau-Thierry. They were probably organized for the purpose of delaying the relentless pursuit of the fleeing enemy by the French and Americans, who on Sunday morning, passed through Chateau-Thierry and advanced northeast of that cornerstone of German conquest in eastern France.

'GERMAN ATTACKS BROKEN UP

The reaction of the Germans is said to have been marked between Grissoles and Bezu-St. Germain, two villages north-northwest and north of Chateau-Thierry, at a distance of approximately seven and four miles respectively. The distance between Grissoles and Bezu-St. Germain is about four miles. Along this line, German attacks were broken and the allied line was maintained throughout.

North of the Ourcq river, the reaction of the enemy was limited to artillery fire.

This was also the case between the Marne and Rheims, notably in the region west of the Rheims mountain and in the Courton and Roi woods.

NEW ALLIED DRIVE

Since the Germans have been ousted from Chateau-Thierry under conditions which suggest that the withdrawal was precipitate, the most interesting movements are in the area south of Soissons, where the Americans are reported to have advanced a distance of a mile and a quarter; the Ourcq valley, where the allies are steadily pounding their way toward Nanteuil-Notre Dame, and southwest of Rheims, where there seems to be an indication that the allies have initiated a new drive for the purpose of outflanking the Germans between Marfaux and Chatillon.

ALLIED POSITIONS ADVANCED

If this last movement develops, the allies' "nutcracker" will be in full motion. Between the known allied front south of Soissons, to the town of Bouilly, southwest of Rheims, there is a gap of about 24 miles. This gap, however, probably is much smaller at present, for the allies' positions south of Soissons seem likely to have been advanced materially since they were reported at Hartennes-el-Taux, on Saturday. If the French, Italian and British troops southwest of Rheims make an advance of any importance the position of the Germans farther south will be made even more critical than it is known to be at present.

AMERICAN GAIN

Advance Over Mile South of Soissons—Huns Now in Precarious Position
Streams of German Prisoners
Pour In—Soldiers From 10
Enemy Divisions Captured

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, Sunday, July 21 (Night)—(By the Associated Press)—South of Soissons, American troops today advanced two kilometers (about 1 1/2 miles). The allied artillery has found the range of the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry railroad, while American troops are outside the Soissons-Villers-Cotterets railroad. As a result, there is only one railroad line in the hands of the Germans south of a line drawn from Soissons to Rheims. Northeast of Belleau, northwest of Chateau-Thierry, the Americans early Sunday had made an advance of five kilometers. Some of the most terrific fighting since the offensive began occurred between Givry and Vaux, the Germans using artillery and machine guns. The allied troops occupied hill 204, commanding Chateau-Thierry, at daylight Sunday and shortly afterwards were pressing through the city. The progress east and north by the French and Americans continued throughout Sunday. The Germans north of the Marne were subjected to a terrible pounding from the allied artillery today. They responded heartily, although unsuccessfully. The allied artillery was forcing out the German rear lines with telling effect, making the enemy's rear guard action costly. Prisoners captured near Chateau-Thierry, confirmed the soundness of General Foch's plan when they disclosed a German retreat became impossible on account of decreased supplies. Stores of both ammunition and food-stuffs were becoming low, they said, and the officers had reported that it was practically impossible to resist. Orders had been issued, the prisoners added, to retreat to a point ten miles north, but the indications tonight were that the Germans would not be permitted to remain that close to the Marne, for the allied bombing movement was progressing steadily. Both the railroads and the wagon roads over which the enormous stores for the German forces must pass, are so menaced as to make them unusable. Streams of prisoners were being taken to the rear all day Sunday. Since Thursday, the Americans have captured German soldiers representing ten different divisions.

COLD BROUGHT ON RHEUMATISM

Pain is the symptom of rheumatism that every victim recognizes but the physician appreciates that this blood is a marked characteristic of the disease. Trying to cure rheumatism while the blood remains thin and weak is an almost impossible task because there is nothing to build on.

Mr. Harry L. Seaver of 69 Union street, Lynn, Mass., a carpenter, was subject to rheumatic attacks, and his experience will interest others who suffer in that way. Mr. Seaver says: "I had rheumatism off and on for twenty years. My work at one time kept me out in all kinds of weather, and dampness and exposure caused my affliction. I had dull aching pains in the left shoulder and in the right knee. They were so severe at times that they made it impossible for me to rest at night. I suffered with headache, had dizzy spells and was nervous. My stomach was out of order. I learned of a person who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a treatment for rheumatism, and this decided me to try them. They helped me and relieved me of pain. They have never failed in my case and I have recommended them to many others."

In no disease does the blood show more altering and thinning than in rheumatism. No permanent relief is possible until the blood is restored and the rheumatic poisons are cast out. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store wherever you may live, or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price, fifty cents per box, six boxes for two dollars and a half by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Send for the free pamphlet "Building Up the Blood."

MATHEWS' OUTING A GREAT SUCCESS

The outing conducted by the Mathew Temperance institute, at the Geneva club in Tyngsboro, like all other "Mat" affairs proved to be a success in every particular.

About one hundred members assembled first at the society rooms, and then marched to Merrimack square, where a car for the K. of C. summer home was boarded. Upon reaching the beautiful grounds, the members "got down to fighting trim" and a program of great variety including sports of all kinds, a dip in the Merrimack and an appetizing dinner served by Caterer Lydon was enjoyed.

The first number on the program was a ball game between the married men and the single fellows, and the "alleged old bucks" put it all over the "kids."

As was expected it took the married men a few innings to get limbered up, but once they got the kinks out, they played rings around boys who call on Wednesday and Sunday nights. The lineup of the contending teams were not divulged until a few minutes before starting time, and when they were finally announced by Umpire Dan Sullivan, it was discovered that the single men had a college boy in the box, but this little thing did not worry the "rent boys."

The single men got the jump, and piled up eight runs before the other team sent a man across the counting station. But, Capt. Frank Riley, who was on the mound for the married men, held a short session with his men, and announced that the scoring must stop and that it was time for the married men to counter attack. The tide did indeed turn in favor of the "rent boys" and they batted around three times, and they might be going yet, only that they tired of circling the bases. After getting the lead, they went up to the bat and went through a wand drill in order to end the agony. More runs were scored but they came so fast that the official scorer couldn't count them.

The battery work of Joe Sullivan and Frank Riley for the winners, was regular big league stuff, while the fielding of George Sullivan and Barney Tully for the boys who went "over the top" would make Ty Cobb "Work or Fight."

Following the game the players took a dip, after which dinner was served. Later a number of races were run off. Tom Tight was out for a prize, and while he worked hard to bring home the bacon, he failed to land. The hundred yard dash, which was won by Pat McGowan, was one of the best events on the card. The three legged race, the slow race, the jumping events were all well contested and some good records made.

Then a "regular" ball game was played between the Mathews and the St. Peter's A.A. This proved to be a crackerjack, going into extra innings. It was a great pitchers battle until the eleventh when Barrett of the "Mat" weakened, and the St. Peter's boys piled up six runs, making the final count, 6 to 3.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Vernon E. Heath and Miss Marie A. Parquett were married Saturday at the parsonage of the Worthen Street M.E. church by Rev. W. C. Townsend. The couple will make their home at 12 Forrest street.

Ashton—Stancombe
Mr. Stephen Ashton and Miss Ida May Stancombe, both members of the Gorham Street M. E. church, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stancombe, in Dunstable, the officiating clergyman being Rev. N. W. McIlhenny, assisted by Rev. Lee Ashton of Lawrence, a brother of the groom. The best man was a brother of the bride, Mr. Andrew Stancombe, while the bridesmaid was a sister of the bridegroom. After a brief honeymoon trip the couple will make their home in Crowley street, this city.

Poulin—Mignault
Mr. Fortunat Poulin and Miss Melvina Mignault were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated in the chapel of St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Athanasie Marion, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Messrs. Alfred Letendre and Calixte Boucher. At the close of the ceremony the bride repaired to the home of the bride, 457 Pawtucket street, where a wedding breakfast was served. The couple left at noon on a brief honeymoon trip and upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Boisvert—Guilmette
The marriage of Mr. Arthur Boisvert and Miss Marie Louise Guilmette, two well known young people of St. Joseph's parish, took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Augustin Gratot, O.M.I. The bride was attended by her cousin, Mr. Adam Guilmette, while the bridegroom's witness was his father, Pierre Boisvert. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, 62 Hall street, where they will make their home upon their return from a honeymoon trip.

Brier—Wolfson
A very pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Rabbi Wolfson, 116 Howard street, when his daughter, Miss Ada Wolfson, was married to Mr. Samuel Brier, of Providence, R. I. The bride is the third eldest of a family of eight girls, and there now remain five younger sisters at the home. The ceremony took place at 5.30 and the couple were joined in marriage by Rabbi Elias Wolfson, Mr. J. Marcus of New Brunswick, N. J., sister of the bride acted as maid of honor and Mr. Harry Brier of Providence, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a gown of white bridal satin with pearl trimmings and old-fashioned lace, which has been in the family for many years and which was worn by Mrs. Marcus at the very large wedding which was held in As-sociate hall a few years ago. The veil was made entirely of sheer duchess lace. She carried a beautiful large slower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor was dressed in black net with jet trimmings. At the reception which followed, the guests enjoyed a full course dinner, at which Mr. Marcus was toastmaster. The house was prettily trimmed with palms and patriotic bunting. The guests included only the immediate relatives, who came from Canada, Providence and Boston. Benjamin Brier, a young brother of the groom, a soldier boy at Camp Meade, came up from Maryland to be present at the wedding. Mr. Samuel Brier is treasurer of the Brier Jewelry Co. of Providence, and after the honeymoon the happy pair expect to make their home in that city.

The bride was a very popular member of the Y.W.M.C.A. of this city and was tendered showers by her many friends previous to her marriage. The gifts received were many and beautiful. The couple left Lowell on the 3.45 train for Boston. Their final destination will be Saratoga Springs. They will at home to their friends after Sept. 1.

The town of Jerome, Ida, 10 years ago a desert, from a population of only 1600 furnished 133 men to the nation's fighting forces, over-subscribed the third Liberty loan first day, $20,000, and raised $5000 a day "Red Cross sale." An American flag brought $1450.

City Hall News

Feasible and will save the city a great deal of money, conserve fuel and prove satisfactory all around according to a statement made at a meeting of the municipal council this morning by Commissioner Francis A. Warnock.

The plans for the new heating and light system have for their origin the present crisis which the city is facing in the matter of providing heat for city hall and Memorial building. The boilers in the basement of city hall have been practically condemned by the state inspector and he says that after repairs which will cost thousands of dollars have been made on the boilers, he will allow them to run at not more than 15 pounds pressure. That will mean that there won't be enough power to keep the building warm.

At this morning's meeting Commissioner Warnock recommended that estimates as to the cost of two 72-horsepower, a 75-horsepower Ames engine with a generator and one 8-horsepower motor, together with the expense of installation, be obtained. It was voted that Commissioner Warnock should get the estimates and present them at the next meeting of the council, if possible.

Mr. Warnock said that these boilers could be run at as much as 120 horsepower and would burn a ton and a half less coal every 24 hours than the boilers which are now in city hall usually burn. At this rate, he maintains that the boilers and supplementary fixtures will pay for themselves within eight or ten years, because the electric lighting bill for the various buildings to be supplied according to the new plans, will be wholly wiped out.

This morning's meeting was originally called to discuss the proposed amendment to the city charter which would give the city council the right to elect a mayor.

An amendment to the wording of the supplementary budget ordinance passed by the council June 29 was introduced by Commissioner Donnelly and was passed. The change is one of phraseology only.

The Boiler Question

Commissioner Warnock read the reports received from an inspector of the Maryland Casualty Co., which carries insurance on city hall and also from the state inspector of boilers, Edwin A. Morse, which were submitted after an inspection of the three boilers in city hall. Mr. Warnock said that the recommendations of Mr. Morse meant, in effect, that the boilers were practically worthless as far as heating purposes were concerned.

"If the city of Lowell desires to save fuel," he said, "it will have to install two six foot boilers; these will not only save fuel but the power may be utilized various ways."

"In 1917 the electric lighting bills for city hall and Memorial building totalled $2004.67. That was even when we were doing our best to conserve fuel and the lighting was not being used to its fullest extent."

"There is no reason why we can't have our own heating and lighting plant in city hall which will provide power to light city hall, Memorial building, the high school and the Green grammar school in Merrimack street. I have asked for estimates on the proposition and I expected to have them for the meeting of the council which was to have been held tomorrow. I will have them at the next meeting of the council."

Upon a suggestion received from T. H. Harkins, an engineer, Commissioner Warnock then made the following recommendation:

"I would recommend that two 72-horsepower boilers with shaking grate be installed and also the changing over of the heating coils in the heating stack for the increase of the heating surface."

"And for the lighting of city hall and Memorial building a 75-horsepower Ames engine with generator and one eight-horsepower motor. The Ames engine would supply power for five electric motors and electric power for the elevator. This would conserve about 1-2 tons of coal in every 24 hours."

Mr. Warnock then added that the high school and the Green school could also be heated from the central plant. At present the boilers burn 85 tons of coal in a week and the new installation would mean a saving of 10-12 tons weekly.

"Something has to be done right away," continued Mr. Warnock. "The water department building in West Sixth street has its own heating plant and there's no reason why we can't have it here."

He also explained that one of the boilers now in use might be retained as an auxiliary boiler to be used while the new ones were being cleaned, etc. Mayor Thompson said that every effort had been made to have the inspector allow the city to use the boilers for another year but to no avail. He then proposed a motion that Commissioner Warnock be instructed to bring in estimates for the proposed installation at the next meeting of the council and it was so voted.

It was voted that all hearings which were scheduled for tomorrow be postponed until a week from tomorrow. Adjourned at 10.53 until Tuesday, July 23, at 10 a. m.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM LOWELL SOLDIERS IN THE WAR ZONE

Sergeant Daniel P. Brennan of Co. M, 101st Infantry, writes a most interesting letter to a member of The Sun staff. He tells of his unit going over the top for the first time. Two Lowell boys, Sergeants Bob Glinivan and Jack Wallace, were mentioned in divisional orders as a result of the battle. The news that Glinivan had been awarded honors came here before but that of Wallace's achievement was not known. The letter follows:

June 15, 1918.
Friend George: Here I am again. No doubt it's been a long time between letters, but I received your letter about a month ago. I guess it traveled all over France before finally getting to the right party. I was more than pleased and that is putting it mildly for we have not had any mail for weeks. I haven't seen Jack Griffin to speak of since we were up on the Chemin de Dames. I had charge of a bunch of

I've seen a poker game interrupted until all masks were on and then the game would go on as usual. The way the batteries put through here at night bringing ammunition to the front presents a wonderful war picture. All the men have on gas masks and are going at breakfast. The cautious make a noise like thunder and this, added to flashes from the guns all around, sure do make a great picture.

Co. M has gone over the top for the first time and without question it was a great success. One corporal in my platoon now wears the French war cross while Sergeants Bob Glinivan and Jack Wallace have been mentioned in divisional orders. I volunteered, but being the only sergeant in the platoon, I could not go. Another time a patrol from the company went out and were caught in a German line. They had to fight their way back to our lines with two machine guns playing on them. They succeeded in killing a boche officer along with two of our men and not one of the boys got scratched. They came in covered with mud from head to foot, a little tired, but satisfied with their night's work.

So it goes when one's at war. The weather we're having now is glorious and we boys are taking advantage of it. We expect to go in the morning for a divisional relief which I hope comes soon so we can get back away from the range of the boche guns. When we go back for a rest now we are carted up to the lines to repair barbed wire or dig trenches. Some rest! All this work is done at night. A fellow can't sleep during the day-time and never gets any at night. Today we are having a little rain; it's the first I've seen for some time, but the sun is breaking through the dark clouds and we have a glimpse of a brighter day. How does the war look to you people over there? We never get news about it here—only rumors and the army is checky of news. I met Ray Dowd and Corp. Tim Lynch of the M. P. a couple of weeks ago. Ralph Connors is now a sergeant, also Walter Scannell and "Chum" Egan of Battery F. I went over to see Sgt. Smith of the battery and met Harold Shaw, Bob Martin, "Donkey" Fraim and a bunch more from the battery and they're looking it as a fiddle. In fact, all the boys we've seen look good. All the boys in the company are well and wish to be remembered. AS EVER.

Your friend, DANNY.

Lieut. Arnold

Lt. Howard C. Arnold, Co. A, 103d Machine Gun Battalion, 52d brigade, now serving in France, grandson of Commander William A. Arnold, designer of the Arnold monument in the Edison cemetery, has written the following letter to his family. Lieut. Arnold served on the Mexican border several years ago and is well versed in the military game. The letter gives the news that the writer was in an attack which took place Sunday morning, June 16. The letter follows:

June 20, 1918.
Dear Mother, Dad and Maud:
I must make this a family letter, as this is the first time since last week Saturday that I have had to write any letters to anyone. I will break the news easy and so that I have a head on my bit; to be more explicit, I was in the attack which took place Sunday morning, June 16. Lieut. Everts and I have been answering questions and writing reports of the scene and sending them to headquarters. For I and the men of my platoon were the first to encounter the boche. Our machine guns were the deciding factor and it was a machine gun victory wholly by the Americans, as no French troops were near our sector. I have talked so much about the fight and had to repeat details so often that it is getting on my nerves. But nevertheless, I was with my men and we have received much praise thus far from all sides.

Mother, never will I forget that morning. I never had faith in prayer before that day. I have it now and shall always have it. I sent up prayer after prayer as the light faded and the sun came out. I am all the men with me came out O. K. We are hoping some of our men will receive medals. Lieut. Everts and myself are the only ones who know about the fight. I tell you, and you've got a boy that is proud he was not afraid or found wanting when the time came to do his duty. These men feel quite proud also.

I have several souvenirs of the battle, some I took from dead Germans, and the others the boys gave me. I have a fine German pistol and two full cups of cartridges. I also have a new pair of German field glasses and leather case for them, two leather belts, a pocket flashlight, two jackknives an identification tag and some German money. Not to sound like a first timer. Our men in all captured eight German machine guns all in fine condition, fully 40 rifles, about 6000 rounds of machine gun ammunition, two liquid fire tanks and other less valuable equipment.

About 650 Germans came over and we killed over 200 so that's not so bad for the first time. Now of the enemy stayed in the town though the papers have stated that they did. We were on the scene and know the facts. I am feeling fine now and have regained my composure after the strenuous and nerve-racking time of last Sunday. Will see you again soon. Expect our whole division to leave this sector soon. With love and kisses and a good big hug for mother.

HOWARD.

WORK OF AMERICANIZATION

IT STOPPED MY SUFFERING

Said Mrs. Jaynes, Speaking of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Anderson, S. C.—"I got into an awful condition with what the doctors said was an organic displacement. I would have pains so badly that they would have to put hot clothes on me and give me morphine. The doctor said I would never be any better without an operation and I would never have any children without it. A neighbor who knew what your medicine would do advised me to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did so and it made me a well woman and the next September I gave birth to a healthy baby."

The letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

AMERICANS CONTINUE TO GAIN, SAYS PERSHING

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Breaking down the resistance of the Germans between the Aisne and the Marne, American troops have continued their advance and taken many additional prisoners, says Gen. Pershing's report for Saturday, received yesterday by the war department.

The report follows:
"Section A—Between the Aisne and the Marne our troops again broke the enemy's resistance and continued their advance, taking many additional prisoners."
"Section B—There is nothing to report in this section."

Despite counter-attacks and rearranged actions of a desperate nature, the Americans advanced steadily early yesterday, says the report.

The towns of Courmelles, Rozet-St. Albain and Maubry had been entered by the Americans before 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

He was overcome at 7:45 o'clock near Lennon's saloon in Market street. He was taken to his home in the ambulance.

CROSSED THE MARNE

Allied Offensive Continues—Huns Completely Defeated at Chateau-Thierry

PARIS, July 22.—Commenting on the German withdrawal on the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry line, Marcel Huttin, in the Echo de Paris remarks: "The offensive continues—ours." It has needed all the reserves which promised victory to the German people, he says, to attempt to stop the allied progress which continues nevertheless. "The enemy has been forced to resist to the last ounce. He was completely defeated at Chateau-Thierry, from which he scurried off, permitting a methodical advance up to Sunday night of 15 kilometres. Several Franco-American units have crossed the Marne, M. Huttin adds, and this presages that the river soon will be entirely cleared of Germans.

Every evening when the sun goes down, the Germans start sending shells over and they sure do come. They mix gas in as a seasoning with high explosives. The alarm is given and it means gas masks on for some time. The boys do loathe wearing masks.

MOTHERS' DAY AT
BOY SCOUTS' CAMP

"Mothers' day" at the Boys' Scout camp took place last Thursday, and the mothers certainly enjoyed it. They were taken to camp in a large truck in the early afternoon and spent the afternoon in inspecting the camp, watching the boys going through the various forms of activity for which the camp is rightly famous, including the afternoon's swim. In the evening after luncheon had been served, a fine entertainment was enjoyed, under the direction of Scout Philippe Molle, consisting mostly of songs and stories. "Good Night, Mothers," was the closing piece, after which the "mothers" embarked for home.

Another visitation occurred Friday, when the national officers, headed by Camp Inspector McDonald, appeared on the scene. Mr. McDonald pronounced the camps in ideal shape, and made some very flattering comments regarding the results of the boys' handiwork.

DOUBLE DROWNING
AT CRYSTAL LAKE

A double fatality occurred when George Wilson and his wife Catherine, were drowned about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Crystal Lake, near their home.

Mrs. Wilson was taking advantage of the shallow water at that point by wading a few feet off shore, but she must have stepped into deep water, for her husband who was sitting on the bank saw her struggling and hastened to her aid. Although he succeeded in reaching her, he did not succeed in bringing her ashore, and both went down.

Mr. Wilson and his wife resided on Princeton street, North Chelmsford, and are survived by four children. The bodies were brought to the undertaking rooms of J. R. O'Donnell & Sons of Lowell.

VICTORY PARADE THE STATE GUARD

Patriotic Demonstration by
Operatives of the United States Cartridge Company

Street Parade, Speeches and
Music on the South Common—Speaker Overcome

Several thousand employees of the U. S. Cartridge Co. paraded through the downtown streets of the city Saturday evening and later assembled on the South common to sponsor a most inspiring patriotic program, all to demonstrate publicly that they were behind the men "over there" who have been winning great victories during the past few days.

Shortly after 7:30 the line of march got under way from outside the Market street plant and headed by the Cartridge Co. band proceeded through Market to Dutton, to Merrimack, Moody, Cabot and back to Merrimack street. At city hall they were reviewed by members of the municipal council. The route then continued down Merrimack to Central, Middlesex and Thordike streets to the South common. Edward Read was chief marshal and the marchers made a most inspiring showing. Riding at the head of the procession in automobiles were officials of the company and invited guests. A large American flag was carried outstretched by some of the marchers and a large amount of money for the Red Cross was contributed by the people who lined the streets.

Upon arrival at the common the marchers assembled around the bandstand and after a number of selections by the band Walter Clough took charge of the meeting and introduced Mayor Henry D. Thompson as the first speaker.

The mayor congratulated the marchers on their patriotic showing and urged them to maintain the standards which they set for themselves in the matter of backing up the men at the front. He said that Lowell had always responded to the call of the nation when in need and that the city would not fail the present crisis if every man and woman did his or her share.

Corp. Frank A. H. Street, a young American who has seen three years' service with the Canadian forces, was introduced and was given a rousing reception. In opening, he told of the difficulties which he experienced in enlisting in the service and later his early adventures in the Canadian army. He emphasized the fact that this war did not belong to any two or three nations exclusively. We are all in it and should take our proportionate share of interest in it. Speaking of the British, he said that 500,000 Britishers had been killed in 1917.

He said the outcome of the war would depend in a large degree on the amount of production which the people at home would furnish the armies at the front and he urged that every one of the workers at the Cartridge shop do their part to keep up that production.

Hearing the conclusion of his address, Corp. Street was evidently overcome by the heat because he staggered and was caught before he fell. He was later revived, however.

The evening's celebration closed with the singing of the national anthem.

Securing the Speaker
Corp. Street was secured for the occasion through the national service section of the United States Shipping board, of which Dr. M. M. Graham, who rode with Corp. Street in the parade, is district service manager, and he proved a pinch hitter when upon a few hours' notice, he supplied a speaker who had seen service "over there."

The service represented by Dr. Graham was organized last January, for the distinct purpose of carrying on a campaign of education and inspiration among the men and women employed in munition plants and other places making war materials. It is doing splendid work and its organization was a happy thought.

Local Companies Will Leave
Thursday for Tour of Duty
at Framingham

No Visitors Are Allowed at
Camp Devens Before 3 or
After 9 P. P.

Next Thursday the local companies of the State Guard will leave for a tour at Camp Gardner, Framingham. The soldiers will find their company streets staked out but beyond that the matter of getting settled will be entirely in their own hands. They will have to put up their own tents, dig their ditches and whatever other work is part of any well organized camp.

Every member of the local companies will be obliged to attend the camp unless excused by reason of a doctor's certificate. On Wednesday afternoon mess details will leave Lowell to prepare the way for the other soldiers. The Lowell company will go to camp by train.

The 11th regiment of the State Guard is in camp at the present time and several Lowell officers have visited it to see the camp in actual operation.

Lowell people who are planning to visit the camp when the local companies get there are warned that no visitors are allowed before 3 p. m. or after 9 p. m. Local employers are reminded that the tour of duty is obligatory and not optional and they should not hesitate to grant any of their employees who are members of the guard permission to leave their work.

AMERICANS DOWN TWO MORE HUN AIRPLANES

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sunday, July 21.—(By The Associated Press)—Two more German airplanes are reported to have been brought down Saturday by American aviators. Neither report has been confirmed officially.

One machine was brought down by Lieut. David E. Putnam, Newton, Mass., the other by Lieut. Baker Brody Freeman.

LOCAL THEATRE MANAGERS SUBORDINATE ORGANIZATION OF BOARD OF TRADE

The local theatre managers have been formed into a subordinate organization of the board of trade through the efforts of Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the board. The purpose of the organization is to provide clean amusement for the people of the city and to uphold the standards of the Lowell theatres.

Articles of organization have been drawn up by Secretary O'Rourke and it is felt that the managers will find in the new body a powerful agent for the protection of their interests.

The following officers have been chosen: President, Walter E. Nelson; vice-president, Benjamin E. Pickett; secretary, John J. O'Rourke.

600 MEMBERS OF THE HARVARD RESERVED OFFICERS' CORPS BEGIN TRAINING

CAMBRIDGE, July 22.—Six hundred members of the Harvard reserve officers' training corps left here today to march to Lancaster, where the corps will be in camp undergoing arduous training for the next six weeks. The organization is made up not only of university students, but prominent alumni of recent years, including several officers of the army. The corps will have the use of some of the equipment at Camp Devens, a few miles distant from Lancaster and also the advice of some of the officers at the cantonment.

THE OBSERVANT LADY

Know the reason for the large smile on the faces of residents on Rogers street, up near Nesmith street? They are feeling quite pleased over the fact that they have a new granolithic sidewalk, and they won't have to pick their way along to their door-steps, wondering how many little cobblestones are leaving their mark upon their rubber-soled shoes.

I notice that an afternoon tea or social half hour is enjoyed by a large party of pigeons located at the city hall, when they remain home, but whose rendez-vous is in a tenement district close to some of our large mills. I was told by their host that they never fail to come. Every day he meets them with a supply of bread and they are never late for lunch.

I think it would be a fine thing if someone clothed with proper authority were to suggest putting in lockers at the swimming pool booths on the Merrimack river. These booths which originally served as temporary voting booths are visited by a number of men, women and children, and I know they would enjoy their swimming much better if they could, perhaps, for a fee of 5 or 10 cents, have a locker of their own, and be quite certain that they were going to take their own coat or hat home with them, on the return journey.

Don't get over alarmed if you should overhear, by accident, a remark such as this from a tired business man, talking over his neighbor's affairs with his wife. "The fools are not all dead yet," she answers, "that's as sure as you live." The husband, of course, did not take the remark as directed at himself.

I have come to the conclusion that the rising generation has heard so much about "Hooverizing" in their homes, that it has taken hold of their economic sense to the same degree as it has the housewife. A young lad selling papers noticed that all the "spring water" was fast leaving a large carbon, the stopper having come out, whereupon he decided to save the water even if he had to stand and hold his hand over the top of the bottle until somebody would show up to relieve him or cork the bottle. In the meantime, perhaps, this thought was running through his mind:

"Save the crumb
And you save the loaf.
Save the loaf
And you save the wheat.
Save the wheat
And you save the sheaf.
Save the sheaf
And you save the men.
Save the men
On land and sea, and thus you
Save your country."

NASHUA AUTO HITS POLICE PATROL—WAGON OFFICER FEELS THE JAR

A collision between an automobile owned by Herbert D. Oliver of Nashua, and the local police patrol, occurred Saturday evening at 11:30, while the latter vehicle was on its way to the Tremont and Suffolk mills. The patrol was proceeding up Moody street and was just crossing that thoroughfare when the Nashua auto, which was going in an opposite direction, struck the patrol near the rear axle. The wagon officer, John Hickson, experienced a severe shaking-up.

TERRIBLE LOSSES WERE SUSTAINED BY ENEMY

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE, July 20.—(By Associated Press)—1 p. m.—The French and Americans have broken through the German line northwest of Chateau-Thierry.

An attack from Chateau-Thierry to Rheims began Saturday. American forces captured hill 193, north of Vaux, and advanced more than two kilometers. At last accounts they were holding their own against German resistance.

Germans Begin Retreat
The German retreat across the Marne began Friday, under cover of a great smoke screen. At last, accounts great hordes of Germans were continuing north.

Organized resistance has been met with so far only at a few places. The allied troops have taken many prisoners, including three officers, who said that they were tired of the war. American infantrymen captured two German 77's. Before the breaking of the German lines the allies battled with the desperate machine gunners, who were moved down as the allied reinforcements arrived. The German losses were terrible.

The French and Americans driving the spearhead toward the northeast have advanced 3-10 miles at various places.

The district south of the Marne and east of Chateau-Thierry is entirely cleared of German. Two badly cut-up remnants were left south of the Marne in the German retreat. Allied aviators bombed the bridges across the river and their escape was impossible.

Allies Hammer Foo

All Saturday night the allies hammered away at the widening wedge between the Germans and Paris as the Germans withdrew north of the Marne. Americans continue taking prisoners and guns. Allied reinforcements are pouring in to overcome any determined resistance the Germans may attempt.

The heavy artillery of the allies continued yesterday the clearing of districts north of the Marne.

Indian scouts who were with Pershing in Mexico played a prominent part in the scout work in the river regions.

Friday, July 26—2 p. m. The Greek Girls' canning club will meet at the Girls' Vocational school with their leader, Mrs. Galatia Souflis and Mrs. Cumner Talbot. At 2:30 Mrs. Burnham demonstrates drying as below.

Drying

So much is being done in other cities and towns in drying fruits and vegetables that we have asked Miss Burnham to give the public the following: Drying is not to be regarded as taking the place of the preservation of vegetables and fruits in tin and glass jars. It must be viewed as an important adjunct thereto.

Drying is important and economical in every home. For city dwellers it has the special advantage that little storage space is required for the dried fruit. One hundred pounds of some fresh vegetables will reduce to 10

American Aviator Buried
With Military Honors by
the Germans

AMSTERDAM, July 22.—The death of Quentin Roosevelt is confirmed by a Wolff bureau message from the front, according to a Berlin despatch received here. The message adds that young Roosevelt was buried with military honors by the Germans. The story of the fatal encounter as told by the Wolff bureau correspondent follows:

"On Sunday, July 11, an American squadron of 12 battle planes was trying to break through the German defense over the Marne. In the violent combat which ensued with seven German machines, one American aviator stubbornly made repeated attacks. The encounter culminated in a duel between him and a German non-commissioned officer who, after a short fight, succeeded in getting good aim at his brave but inexperienced opponent, whose machine fell after a few shots, near the village of Chambray, 10 kilometers north of the Marne."

"His pocket case showed him to be Lieut. Quentin Roosevelt of the aviation section of the United States army. The personal belongings of the fallen aviator are being carefully saved with a view to sending them later to his relatives. The earthly remains of the brave young aviator were buried with military honors by German aviators near Chambray at the spot where he fell."

FOR PREPARATORY MILITARY STUDY

Lowell young men who soon expect to go into the national service and have hopes of obtaining a commission are offered an excellent opportunity for preparatory military study in a prospectus received recently at the war work headquarters in Merrimack street.

The Military Training Camps association, with headquarters in Chicago, is behind the project and it has the approval of the war department. The camp which will next be opened for students is Camp Steever, Geneva Lake, Wis. A course of intensive military training under regular U. S. army officers lasting for two weeks beginning August 12 is open to any American citizen 18 years old or over. There is no maximum age limit. The applicant must have the endorsement of two business professional men and must have the approval of a physician as to his physical condition.

The cost of the two weeks' training is $30. The course is a wholly voluntary one and at its conclusion the students will not be obliged to enter further military service although that is the prime end for which the course is given.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained at the war work headquarters, 119 Merrimack street.

MORE EVIDENCE OF GERMAN-IRISH PLOT

LONDON, July 22.—The Dublin correspondent of the Daily News says that a considerable quantity of what the government regards as useful and additional evidence of a German-Irish plot has just come to hand in the form of extracts from censored private correspondence between persons in Ireland and in America. Some of the detailed information as to times, places and quantities of munitions to be landed, is understood to be remarkable.

LEGAL ADVICE FREE

It is really surprising how much the government is endeavoring to do for the soldiers and the families of soldiers, and yet it never can do too much. The war department has just announced that the judge advocate general of the army has worked out a complete system under which free legal and business advice will be given not only to soldiers, but to their families at home. The Red Cross will assist in this very desirable work so that everything possible will be done in this respect to aid the soldier and his immediate relatives.

THE ENDLESS CHAIN

To explain the present high cost of living it is necessary only to follow the endless chain by which prices are forced upward. The producer demands more for his work and his product; the consumer having to pay more demands more for his labor in whatever industry he is employed. Thus the price of labor goes up and then goes up in parallel lines the cost of the necessities of life. Thus the endless chain is kept in motion lifting the prices skyward, but there will be a crash some day—after the war, of course—and then the process will be reversed and continue to bring prices back to a normal basis such as existed before the war. Something similar will occur in every other country engaged in the war.

WORK OR FIGHT LAW

South Dakota goes Massachusetts one better in a work or fight law. That state has discovered that 80 per cent of its youth within the draft age are in perfect physical condition. But some of them awaiting the call are employed at non-essential occupations while many outside the draft age have no occupations at all.

Hence South Dakota has passed a Work or Fight law compelling all men between the ages of 18 and 61 to work at some essential employment. The law also defines the essential and non-essential occupations. One of the latter is pool rooms and to this Secretary Baker has added baseball. If there is anything less essential than a professional pool shark, we don't know what it is, and South Dakota's action may be a precedent for other states in taking care of their loungers and other ornamental loafers.

THE NICKEL NURSES

Some of our comic artist friends have gone far out of their way to make sport of fellows who are not as loose as ashes with their money. They call them "nickel nurses." The "good fellow" spendthrift is given a niche several degrees higher than that upon which they place the "nickel nurse." In real life, it doesn't work out that way. Usually the "nickel nurse" has money when that proverbial rainy day rolls around. He owns his home. He educates his children. He has something laid by for Liberty Loans and Thrift Stamp Investments. It is seldom that a nickel nurse's widow has to take in washing to support the children after their father has passed away. If it were not for the man who is as "loose as ashes" with his money, orphan asylums would have many vacant rooms.

In these times economy is the watchword. If we have any money to spare, we can put it to good use in meeting the various appeals which the war brings to all of us. Besides, the rate of wages is high at present and the demand for labor pressing, but after the war there will be a great change during the period of readjustment and reversion to ante-bellum conditions.

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

The democratic campaigners may as well make up their minds that they cannot cover Lawrence, Andover and Lowell in a single night. A flying tour of this kind may be excusable on the eve of election, but not at any other time.

It might be possible to cover Lowell and Woburn on the same night if proper arrangements were made in advance and so that the people of each city may know precisely the time and the place at which they can hear the speakers or meet the candidates.

At the rally held here last week in the interests of Richard H. Long, candidate for governor, Hon. Judge Riley of Malden held the very unpleasant task of speaking against time while awaiting the arrival of the candidate and other speakers. The judge is well equipped for an emergency of this kind; but when the delay runs into hours, it is not surprising that even his eloquence fails to hold all the people who want to go home. In such cases it is a mistake to assume that the candidate has covered Lowell. The local democrats want to hear all the candidates. Only a small number of them have heard Mr. Long.

IN THE WAR IN EARNEST

We are now in the war in earnest both on land and sea. The loss of the U. S. cruiser, San Diego, probably as a result of a U-boat attack, shows that the danger has been brought to our doors.

The nation is deeply stirred by the events of the past few days. There is cause for rejoicing over the changed situation on the western battlefield; but the jubilation has been suddenly interrupted by the news of the sinking of an American cruiser right at our very doors.

This, of course, is war; it is but what is to be expected and for better or worse it will continue until the power of Germany is smashed beyond resurrection. It is gratifying to find that under the circumstances the loss of life has not been greater, but whatever it may be, it must be set down as one of the inevitable consequences of war. It will take a little time to overcome all these U-boats and ocean raiders; but they will be conquered with a certainty and a swiftness that will astonish the relentless enemy.

THE CAR SHOP MEN

The extemporaneous parade by the several thousands of workers in the Billerica car shops was one of the most unique events of the kind ever witnessed on the streets of Lowell. Unfortunately it came so suddenly on the people that the crowds along the sidewalks thought the men were on strike and merely gazed in astonishment as the paraders marched past, cheering behind their large American flag. The men of the car shops are a patriotic bunch.

They gave a splendid demonstration of their loyalty and their joy on hearing of the great victory won by the Allies. Had they notified the newspapers in advance, the people here would have been ready to give them a rousing reception. As it was, the parade was an eye opener to the people of Lowell. When next these men from the car shops come into Lowell on any such occasion the people must be prepared to give them the kind of reception they deserve. We shall prefer to see them, too, in their working togs with grimy hands and faces just as they quit work in the big shops. They were greatly misjudged when taken for a lot of hot-headed strikers. They are too patriotic to strike in these times.

CITY POLITICS

It is now in order for all who favor better city government than we have been getting, to bring some more acceptable candidates into the field than the average of those we have been voting for.

The voters however well meaning are helpless unless the right kind of candidates seek the nomination. It is true that very often out of a fair field the voters elect the most unacceptable candidates. That is the result of organized political work and not perversity or lack of vision on the part of the electorate.

In some cases under the present charter, weak or incompetent candidates have been elected because no other kind had been nominated and there was no alternative but to elect them. Municipal politics is in such bad odor of late that it is difficult to get strong business men to run. They realize that in a contest with a professional politician who has a political machine, the straightforward business man has a poor chance of success. Moreover, the business man has not the time nor the inclination to make a house to house canvass which is now the custom and one that should be discontinued.

Such are the considerations that have reduced our municipal politics to a very low level with practically no hope of redemption until we have a new charter such as provided under Plan B or that plan so modified as to give us primaries. Still Plan B works well in some other cities and would, we believe, bring about a great improvement in Lowell.

MILITARISM MUST BE CRUSHED

In this war as conducted by Germany, the whole world can see how the German people are used merely as so many cattle to be slaughtered to save the ambitions of the military junkies.

The young men are trained to the arts of war, and whenever the war lords decide to make war on other nations, the man power is drawn upon to be rushed in mass formation against the embattled forces of other nations with frightful loss of life. Moreover, the military leaders of Germany aided by the press, delude the people with false stories of victory always about to be achieved. These methods are well represented by the old cartoon that showed a donkey racing forward to catch a bundle of hay fixed so as to dangle in front of it, but always too far away to be reached.

President Wilson and the Entente Allies made a very clear distinction between the German militarists and the German people who are helpless victims of the Prussian system. Indeed President Wilson has laid it down as a condition of peace that this militarism in Germany must be overthrown and popular government established under which the people will have some voice in shaping their own destinies, and as to whether they shall forever be held merely as common fodder for the wars projected by the militarists.

The German people are to be redeemed from this state of abject servitude at the close of this war; but it may be assumed that the Kaiser and his henchmen will hold to the system until it be completely crushed. If it be not crushed by this war, then every nation will become an armed camp and all will immediately start to train for the next war. That is why the German military system, not Germany nor her people, must be crushed, so that the world will have an opportunity to pursue the arts of peace without the perpetual dread of being plunged at any moment into the unspeakable horrors of war.

The Hun proposes to possess world-power. His present portion has aroused a mad lust for more, like the all-consuming fierceness of the alcoholicist thirst. He designs to colonize, cultivate, terrorize and Germanize the peoples of the earth. With the Allies, possession involves neither power nor dominion. In the words of Jefferson, to possess the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness sums up the allied platform of war.

Time-Tested Way

Incarcerating offenders is the wrong idea. We ought to try to prevent crime. Just so, said the old-fashioned judge. And you can prevent lots of crime by putting the right people in jail.—Kansas City Journal.

Twass Some Cheer

The members of the Crescent Athletic association are still talking about that remarkable outburst of enthusiasm that greeted the call for cheers in recognition of the big American victory "over there." Well they might, for seldom has such a demonstration occurred in this city. The entire assembly, seven hundred strong, was on its feet like a flash, and the unanimity and vociferousness of the cheers resounded through the spacious auditorium, like the roar of cannon. The evening's entertainment though a splendid one, was entirely forgotten and for a time all thoughts were transferred to the battlefield. Old men and young men were there, and each vied with the other in an endeavor to more forcibly express his appreciation of the great work of our boys across the seas. The demonstration was one that will not soon be forgotten by the participants.

trance to the registry of deeds building to put some kind of a barrier to prevent pigeons from roosting over the entrance to the building, where they have made a nuisance of the front and the steps.

While the carpenters were at work tearing out the nests and the accumulation that the pigeons had taken up over the entrance, some remarks were made that it was cruel to deprive the pigeons of a home. But the carpenters kept right on with their work. Recently the handsome circular globe in front of the registry of deeds building, on either side of the entrance, have been rather mysteriously broken, and it could not be determined how it was done, until Janitor Bennett of the building set out to watch.

The result of his sleuth work was the discovery that the pigeons were making a home over the entrance were the guilty parties. They were seen finally knocking off some object from their roost which broke one of the globes. It was discovered that they had either taken up some large nails or some large nails had been left over the entrance, and they were sufficiently heavy enough when they fell on the globes to break them. As the globe cost $15 each and the pigeons had broken four, it was thought that the treasury of Bristol county was not large enough to keep furnishing $15 globes for the pigeons to shoot nails at, and hence the pigeon nuisance will be eliminated at the registry of deeds building.—New Bedford Standard.

Working Against Work

We were coming down the street the other afternoon a couple of hours before the street car crush started, and we saw a middle-aged woman with a shawl over her head, old time "leg-of-mutton" style coat, uneven hanging skirt, and flat shoes. Waiting for a car she looked as though she just finished the Daily week's washing of one of her customers in that neighborhood. The car came moping along, she stepped out of the curb and signaled for it to stop. There wasn't a car just behind it, and the Motorman wasn't trying to make up time, he was just poking along, and he looked the other way as he passed her up—
We wonder if the Bird has let it filter through his gable just what the "Work or Fight" Order means!

Male Builds Nest

After pairing, the ostrich begins to make his nest. It is the male alone that performs this duty. To do it, he squalls upon the ground, and, balancing himself upon his breastbone, scratches up the earth with his legs and throws it behind him. When he has dug out enough on one side to suit him he turns round and begins to dig on another side, and continues this operation until he has made a hole large enough for him to sit in comfortably. A few days after the nest is finished the female begins to lay one egg every alternate day for 18 or 20 days. She then rests for a while, which time varies from four to 10 days, and then lays more.

A pair of ostriches yield about 40 eggs, though it is not unusual for a well-fed well-kept pair to yield 50 to 60 eggs. The eggs are placed so as to leave no space between them. The male and the female brood alternately. At night the male is always on the nest, as it possesses greater warmth than the female. These birds perform their duties with the greatest skill, without any noise or breakage of the eggs. The incubation lasts 45 days, but never continues beyond that. When the chicklings hatch out they can be heard trying to break the shell of the egg.

Sometimes they succeed in doing so, but usually the father breaks the egg under the breast bone, tears the inside skin with his bill, and frees the chickling. Upon first reaching the air the chickling remains limp and weak. But the warmth of the parent soon revives it, and a few hours afterward it begins to run about, exercising its long legs, toppling over at each step, and recommending again its stumbling journey. Four days after their hatching the chicklings begin to eat. They run after insects and swallow small pebbles. The father and mother do not help their little ones to find food.—Buffalo Commercial.

Death in France

If I should die while I am yet in France Before the battle-clouds have rolled away, Give me to feel that death will but enhance Life's secret vision on its passing day. Grant then to me new, individual power In reverie, whilst whimsically I Thro' eager, breathless youth, each trace The light and shadow on its fading face. And in death's soonest minute let me seek Life heightened by new splendor, pulse, surprise, New color flushing deep its palling cheek, New wonder looking from its tired eyes. Time's brought a rare patine to old Rome— Death has an ancient dignity in France. —Carroll Carstairs in "Songs by the Fighting Men."

BIG SUNDAY CROWD AT REVERE BEACH

REVERE, July 22.—Ideal weather brought out one of the largest crowds of the year on the beach yesterday. At the state bathhouse, 9134 persons went in bathing, of whom 3185 were women. This total is within $1 of the record number going in from the bathhouse in the 29 years it has been established. There were also enough bathers from cottages, hotels and automobiles to bring the total number of bathers for the day close to 20,000.

It was a great day, too, for automobiles, it being estimated that fully 10,000 passed along the boulevard until it was closed at 1 o'clock, and then along North Shore drive. There was a gentle wind from the east that tempered the heat and the water up to 89 during the day.

There were few accidents and only one arrest. A young man was arrested for throwing a missile on the beach. A woman fainted while bathing and another sustained a sprained wrist by being run into by a boy.

A surprisingly large number of automobile bathing parties came, parking their cars on the boulevard north of Revere street. At times there were double lines waiting for suits at the bathhouses, the women's line extending around into Ocean ave.

COAL BULLETIN No. 20

For a month we have been pushing our Company and its plans before your vision and we have talked pretty loud at times, not because it is our nature to so express ourselves but because we want you to know that the Lajoie Coal Company is on earth and doing business at the old stand. By nature we are quite modest, though our ads. would not reveal that interesting fact to the casual reader.

Bye and bye our teams and trucks will be over-loaded delivering hard coal and at this time we wish to put out as much SOFT COAL as the law allows, so bring in your orders for steam coal. Our coal is as good steam coal as is brought into the city, barring none but New River, and next winter it will look as good as New River to you. We are sure we can give you satisfaction. We are filling up the bins of several important institutions and industrial plants and we would like to fill yours.

We are going to unload three cars of hard coal on our trestle today, and as the Government wants cars unloaded quickly we'll tell you our record.

Tomorrow we may publish a couple of letters we have. Not sure about it, but will let you know tomorrow.

BAKER AND CROWDER TAKE UP BASEBALL

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Secretary Baker and Provost Marshal General Crowder are considering today the advisability of extending the effective time of the work or light order as it applies to professional baseball players so as to permit the completion of the season.

San Johnson Hopeful

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 22.—President Johnson of the American league, shortly before noon today, announced that he had received advice from Washington that Secretary of War Baker and Provost Marshal General Crowder would meet at 2 p. m. to discuss the question of baseball being non-essential and that pending further word from Washington, the meeting of the American league owners here to decide the fate of baseball would be postponed until 3.30 p. m.

With the exception of Washington, representatives of all the American league clubs had arrived here this morning. President Johnson was an early arrival. If the government considers baseball a non-essential, we will close up," he said. He added that a friend had wired him from Washington that the government probably would take action today to allow the clubs to finish the season. He said that the meeting, scheduled for noon, would be postponed until he heard from Washington. The American association closed its season yesterday and awarded the pennant to Kansas City.

President Johnson late yesterday telegraphed all American league clubs to continue play until officially notified to quit. He said that the telegram was sent to give the players some notice but he was confident that the order to stop play until further notice will be sent out from Cleveland before tonight. He left last night for Cleveland.

National League Meeting
NEW YORK, July 22.—Sec. Heydler of the National league today received a telegram from President Toner, who is at Pittsburgh, announcing that definite arrangements had been made for a meeting of the league at Pittsburgh tomorrow. It is expected that the question of the duration of this season's play will be settled at this session.

BOSTON, July 22.—An early trial of 41 wholesale fish dealers charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law was asked by Special Assistant District Attorney McLennan in a certificate filed in the office of the United States circuit court here today. Indictment against the trial would begin in October. The suit was brought in June, 1917, and a special United States examiner has taken testimony.

JOAN OF ARC INCARNATES SPIRIT OF BELGIUM

(Mlle. Suzanne Silvercruyts, daughter of the chief justice of Belgium, a pretty girl of 18, who witnessed the despoliation of her native land by the Germans, is touring America for the relief of Belgian babies. She is a modern Joan of Arc, fighting not with the sword, but with the power of her personal appeal to America to save her country from the Hun. She has won the hearts of thousands in this country—and their money, too. She has written for the Newspaper Enterprise Association and its members this article on "The Spirit of Belgium.")

By SUZANNE SILVERCRUYTS, Daughter of the chief justice of Belgium.

Little Belgium has suffered; oh, you could never imagine how my beloved little country has bled, but you must know that even if the Germans should kill every single one of us, to that last drop of blood, the spirit of Belgium would still be alive!

The Belgian people never realized how much they loved their country until it was placed in danger. When the Kaiser's ultimatum was sent to our king, saying: "Let us pass through Belgium and you will be paid; if you don't let us pass you shall suffer and die," every real Belgian rose and shouted: "They shall not pass!"

It was with that spirit that General Leman and 30,000 men of our small army held Liege for eight days against German invaders three times their number.

Slowly we had to go back, like a helpless child before an armed giant. We fought desperately, without hope of success, but in order to give the Lord's prayer.

She had reached this point: "Give us this day our daily bread. Forgive us our trespasses, as—" But there her voice broke. She could not bring herself to complete the prayer for those who had despoiled Belgium.

A firm, solemn voice spoke behind her. "As we forgive those who trespass against us!" She turned. It was the king of the Belgians!

men return to work pending negotiations on their demand for increased pay. The polls were ordered opened at 4 p. m.

The continued absence of the cutters from their benches had resulted today in the idleness of 15,000 shoe workers. The strike started a week ago.

LID ON TIGHT AT OLD ORCHARD BEACH

OLD ORCHARD, Me., July 22.—The vote of the selectmen to revoke the licenses of all amusement places that was on Sunday contrary to the orders of Gov. Carl E. Milliken accomplished yesterday what the 100 deputy sheriffs, state constables and town officers failed to do last Sunday.

Up to midnight the proprietors had not decided whether to run or to call the fight off. This morning it was decided by the 15 men who operate amusements not to do business.

Thousands of people were here watching to see what was to be done. The crowd was the largest that has visited the beach in half a dozen years. Hundreds of automobiles were parked in different parts of the town.

All the deputies of Sheriff Haven O. Roberts was here, and a large force of state constables and town police was on hand, but had little to do. The immense crowd was orderly, not an arrest being made for the day.

UNIONS ARE AT ODDS IN HAVERHILL STRIKE

HAVERHILL, July 22.—Twenty-two members of the Allied Shoe Workers' union, employed in the Hancock and Walker factory, today decided to return to work. There was a demonstration outside the factory and members of the union prevailed upon the 22 men to remain out. There was no disturbance.

A short meeting of the men out was held today and was adjourned because the assistant agent was overcome by the heat. It developed today that there is a controversy between the Allied Shoe Workers' union and the Shoe Workers' Protective union as to which organization the edgemakers, heel workers, buffers and bottom finishers in factories making turn shoes, shall belong.

The Allied Shoe Workers desire to submit the matter to a referendum vote of members of both unions, each union to have two men on the committee on balloting. Thus far, the Shoe Workers' Protective union has ignored the Allied Shoe Workers, and made no answer to the request for a referendum vote.

The Allied Shoe Workers propose that the union possessing the largest number of members shall be the union to handle agreements, price lists and grievances, the minority to submit to the vote of the majority.

STRIKERS VOTE TO RETURN TO WORK

SPRINGFIELD, July 22.—The striking employees of the Smith & Wesson Co. today voted to return to work tomorrow morning, pending a decision on the points at issue by Major O. J. Getchell, representative of Secretary of War Baker, who it was announced, will come to this city within a few days. A large percentage of the employees have been out since July 12 to enforce demands for a wage increase and improved working conditions. The company is employed exclusively on government contracts.

Intervention Continued

aggressive designs in intervening in Siberia, the despatch adds. It is probable that a British commission will accompany the joint expedition, it is stated.

No Statement from Washington

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The government today continued its reserve on any announcement of plans with Japan for military aid to Russia and Siberia. Officials said that until some official communication from the Japanese government arrived, there would be nothing to say for publication.

Details of the plan previously published in London and Tokyo, however, disclosed that the project for military aid to Russia contemplated assistance to the Czech-Slovak army. The next steps for extending this aid may not be discussed at this time.

The American proposal, it is said, differs from that advanced by Great Britain and France. There is understood to have been some divergence of opinion at first as to the extent to which an allied expedition should penetrate Siberia. The Japanese military authorities were insistent that no limitation should be placed upon their action. The United States and the allied governments have gone to some lengths to make plain that they have every confidence in the good faith of Japan, and the announcement of the acceptance of an agreement indicates that this point has been agreed upon.

The relief commission mentioned in the despatches probably has some connection with the body of American business men and industrial leaders which is to be sent to extend economic aid in the way of restoring business, industry and agriculture in Russia.

Hunt U-Boat Continued

Though the port of Boston was not closed, merchant ships and other unprotected craft were warned of the danger upon leaving the harbor. The submarine was headed south when last seen yesterday, but naval authorities were prepared to meet the possibility that the boat would show up again off the New England coast.

Raiders in Massachusetts Bay

Reports to the headquarters of the first naval district in this city indicated that the submarine was near the Massachusetts coast yesterday. Captain Owen Bartlett of Plymouth, reported that about dusk Saturday night he sighted the periscope of a submarine four miles off the port of Plymouth. The captain said he was in a motor boat and close enough to the object to identify it positively as part of a submarine.

Captain Bartlett's report placed the submarine well within Massachusetts bay. Other reports of the presence of the undersea boat have also been received, but not all were of a conclusive nature.

An interesting feature of the attack yesterday near Orleans, was the fact that the submarine opened fire without warning. In all previously reported attacks upon American coastwise vessels, warnings have been given.

Attempt to Raise Victims

ORLEANS, July 22.—Efforts were made today by a wrecking fleet to raise the three barges sunk by a German submarine near here yesterday and to salvage a fourth barge and the tug Perth Amboy, which was damaged by shell fire from the submarine. It was believed that all the barges could be raised.

If this is done, the exploit of yesterday will prove a costly bit of business for the Germans with small effect. It is estimated that the three barges launched at the boats cost the imperial German government $15,000 apiece, to say nothing of the other ammunition expended in the one hour and a half bombardment of the ships.

Captain Charles Ainslee, commander of the barge Lansford, who was wounded in both arms by fragments of shells, was resting comfortably today. His wounds are not serious. The members of the crews and the passengers who spent the night here were none the worse for their experience.

Hundreds of summer residents along the cape and tourists in automobiles came here today but there was little for them to see except the work of the wrecking crew.

German "Gratulations"

WASHINGTON, July 22.—German "gratulations" in a new form, designed to shake the morale of the American nation, was the interpretation placed by many officials here today on the sudden appearance of a German submarine off the Massachusetts coast yesterday, and the sinking by shell-fire of three barges of a tow and the shelling of a fourth barge and the tug. The attack on such small craft could not be attributed to any other reason, it was believed, than an attempt to frighten the American people.

Naval vessels of all kinds were believed today to be seeking the U-boat and at the same time keeping a sharp lookout for mines which it is thought have been strewn in the steamer lanes by the submarine. The unremitting search for the U-boats, some officials believe, has led the commanders to adopt the safer policy of placing mines off the Atlantic coast in hope that transports may be sunk.

LOWELL SHOE CUTTERS ASSOCIATION

Employees of the cutting room of the Snow Shoe Co. are still on strike and although a conference with a representative of the company was held Saturday afternoon, no definite agreement was reached. The strikers want 27½c per hour for day work and 15 per cent. increase for piece work.

At a meeting held in Odd Fellows building Saturday afternoon the Lowell Shoe Cutters' association was formed. The organization is purely for social purposes and not of a union nature. The following officers were chosen pro tem: Robert M. Dempsey, president; Frank Nears, vice-president; A. J. Chapdelaine, secretary; William Collins, treasurer; Michael Driscoll, Fred Gibbs and Joseph Martin, trustees.

The next meeting will be held Saturday afternoon in Odd Fellows building.

3 OF SAN DIEGO'S CREW DEAD—59 MISSING

Among those missing are Allan B. Croke, Arlington Heights, Mass., and Loyd L. Willey, Island Falls, Me.

GREEK MINISTER

Hon. George Roussos, Greek Ambassador, Guest of Local Greek Community

Meetings at Greek Church and Associate Hall—Banquet in the Evening

Hon. George Roussos, minister of the king of the Hellenes to the government of the United States, was the guest of the local Greek community yesterday and during his brief stay in this city he was royally entertained. In the morning the distinguished visitor addressed his fellow countrymen at the Greek Orthodox church in Jefferson street, while in the afternoon he was the principal speaker at a mass meeting in Associate hall. In the evening he was tendered a banquet in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street and at the close of the festivities he was taken over the road in an automobile to Peabody, where he was given another enthusiastic welcome by the Greek-speaking residents of that city. The distinguished visitor came to

HON. GEORGE ROUSSOS

Lowell at the request of the directors of the local Greek community and before leaving he accepted the invitation of Mayor Perry D. Thompson to return in September to study the conditions of his people in this city. He arrived in Lowell late Saturday afternoon and shortly after his arrival he was entertained at luncheon at the home of Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos in Middlesex street. The home had been handsomely decorated for the occasion with the national colors and Greek emblems, while flags of France and Great Britain were also much in evidence.

Hon. George Roussos has been at Washington as the ambassador of Greece since last September, and prior to that time he was the representative of the Greek government in Egypt. He is a lawyer by profession, an advocate of democracy and a man very capable in international affairs. He is unmarried and speaks French fluently, but his knowledge of the English language is limited. In conversation with a Sun reporter, Mr. Roussos said America is a great country and its people a great people. Pointing to the national colors he said: "That flag and the people it represents have never known defeat and never will."

Church Service

The morning service at the Greek Orthodox church was held at 10 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Agnostopoulos as the officiating clergyman. The congregation was very large and at the close of the service all listened with great interest to the address of the ambassador, who urged them to be loyal to their religion, their mother country and adopted country. During the service a special musical program was given by the regular choir.

At Associate Hall

President Costas Vurgaropoulos of the local Greek community presided over the afternoon mass meeting at Associate hall and the speakers were the ambassador, Carroll N. Brown, Ph.D., professor of Greek at the New York University; Dr. Demosthenes Generalis and Mr. Saccarlarkos, the latter a distinguished orator and journalist, who is addressing meetings in various parts of the country in order to arouse patriotism in the hearts of his fellow-countrymen.

The hall, which was filled to the doors, was prettily decorated with Greek and national colors and when the ambassador marched through the center aisle he was roundly cheered. The Greek band was present and in the course of the afternoon American and Greek anthems were played.

Ambassador Roussos spoke in the Greek language and his address was in part as follows:

"In the few hours that I have been with you, visiting your homes and your places of business, I have found that you are faithful to your country, and also to this, your adopted country. A man who does not first love his own country cannot be loyal to America. I find you both law-abiding and faithful. America asks for no more. This country needs good, law-abiding citizens. There are a few among us who try to keep you divided. They are enemies to the country whose flag is at my right. (Cheers.)

"You should know that victory was ours from the beginning. We await only the extent of the victory. We were never losing. Beware of the man that tries to discourage you. Obey the starry flag that is going to lead you, and all, to victory.

"The latest news from the old country makes clear that the government which kept the Greek army hand-bound and made possible the destruction of Serbia is no more on Greek soil. Now, we want union. Union among ourselves, union with America, under this flag. Now we have the greatest man in our government—the greatest man in our history—Venezelos. (Cheers.) He tells you nothing but the truth. If he asks you for sacrifices he tells you the cause. Those that try to mislead you are seeking self-interest. If all free nations are pledged to sacrifices, you American Greeks ought to be among the first to so pledge. This country is yours, just as it is the country of the American people. I speak to you like a brother, like a father.

"In this war, sacrifices are needed. First, there is the blood sacrifice. That is the noblest sacrifice of all. After two wars of ours we might feel exhausted, but this last is the most necessary war of all. All are called upon to sacrifice, young and old, men and women, boys and girls. No one should be exempted. This war is unprecedented in human history, in its sacrifices.

"Second, there is the sacrifice of labor. This war has no respect—must not have respect—of sacrifices. Look at the American people, how they pledged in one day, with one heart, for this great nation! Remember that our boys in Turkey are being made Mohammedans, turned from the Christian religion! Remember that our girls are shut in the harems of the young Turks, and the mothers who do not appeal to the sensual fancy of the Turk, are killed, cold-handed!

"Third, there is the money sacrifice.

As you know, the old imperial regime in Greece has spent all the money. The treasury was empty when the new government came into power. The Greek Red Cross has no money. The American Red Cross looks after our heroes. It needs your money. You are fortunate to live in this patriotic country. You read in the papers of the successful Red Cross campaigns. Now, I urge you, brothers, to bury self. Bury it deep, and put up in its place this country, your country, and the cause of both countries, the cause of freedom. United among ourselves with this country, we become impregnable."

At the close of his address the visitor asked for three cheers for America, for Greece, for President Wilson, for King Alexander and for Venezelos, saying "we make no separation, we are all Americans now." The audience rose and gave three loud cheers and a tiger.

The next speaker was Carroll N. Brown, professor of Greek in the New York University, who addressed the audience in its own tongue, and his remarks were listened to with great interest.

At the close of Prof. Brown's address Dr. Generalis offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"To His Excellency Premier Venezelos of Greece: We, the Greeks of Lowell, Mass., united in general assembly, with our ambassador as guest of honor, take pleasure in informing you that we are ready and willing to sacrifice by all necessary means, for the accomplishment of that purpose for which the allied nations are fighting. And we pledge also our loyalty to our adopted country, the United States of America. We are grateful to Your Excellency's government for sending this able ambassador to this great country, where so many of the Greek people are living in such prosperity. And we are grateful for his indefatigable efforts to explain to the young Greeks in America the fulfillment of the dream for which the Hellenic race is fighting now with the United States."

The last speaker was Mr. Cacerlakos, who spoke of the movement for democracy as being old as the day of Pericles. He extolled the success of Venezelos in uniting the Greek people in order to support the cause of the Entente allies in the struggle against Germany. This address was followed by loud cheering led by Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos and the meeting was brought to a close with band selections.

CROWN PRINCE CALLS FOR HELP

FOCH TRAP TO CATCH GERMANS

There are few details of the fighting between the Aisne and the Ourcq. It appears, however, that the reported advance of the allies south of the Aisne below Soissons, simply is the carrying out of the French strategic plan of keeping the Aisne on the French flank. The actual occupation of Soissons would be a matter of slight importance in comparison with the demoralization or capture of the German armies to the southward which appears to have been in General Foch's mind as a possibility when the smash on the German flank was begun by General Mangin on Thursday morning.

ALLIED "NUTCRACKER" CLOSING IN

If the allied "nutcracker" continues to close in, the remorseless manner that it has for the last three days, the Germans will be fortunate if they can extricate all their forces from the Marne salient. Their railroad communications are virtually all under allied control or are under heavy fire. The tired and defeated Germans must retreat over wagon roads by way of Fere-an-Tardenois, or to the eastward of that place, and the task of bringing them safely out of the sack, in which they have been caught is a heavy one.

HUN MAY BE FORCED TO FLEE TO VESLE RIVER

Continued allied successes might compel a German retreat at least as far as the Vesle river. If this line is maintained by the Germans, General Foch will have succeeded in straightening out his front, which will then run in an almost direct line from Montdidier to the heights of the Menne.

BRITISH GAIN EAST OF AMIENS

British forces on the northern side of the Picardy sector have gained further ground near Hebuterne, while east of Amiens, near Arras and in the Lys salient, raiding operations characterize the operations of the British during the last night.

FRENCH AND AMERICANS PUSH ON

In the past 24 hours, most progress has been made in the Chateau-Thierry sector. The enemy has been driven back about five miles eastward from Belleau and three miles northward from the Marne at Chateau-Thierry. Both the French and Americans have made notable progress in this region since the occupation of Chateau-Thierry Sunday morning.

AUSTRIAN CABINET AGAIN RESIGNS

The Austrian cabinet of Dr. Von Seydler again has resigned. It is reported that Emperor Charles this time will accept. The premier apparently has been unable to bring parliament into line so that it will pass necessary bills.

MARNE SOON TO BE CLEARED OF ENEMY

From the Ourcq to the Marne the Allied line now runs through La Croix, Grisolles and Epids, to Mont St. Pere, on the Marne, where the French have crossed the river. The Allied advance apparently is at a dinner held at Hamilton hall, Odd Fellows' building, Middlesex street at 6.30 o'clock, at which about 50 prominent citizens of this city participated. The menu, which had been planned by John Bravacos, chairman of the general committee, was elaborate and was served by Lydon the caterer of Billerica and Lowell. The post prandial exercises were presided over by Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos, who in his opening remarks welcomed the visitors and paid a fine tribute to the visitor. He introduced as the first speaker Rev. Fr. Agnostopoulos, pastor of the Greek Orthodox church. The latter spoke in Greek, saying the Greek residents of this city all feel proud to have today as their guest a worthy son of Greece. He spoke of the gigantic struggle for democracy and concluded by advancing the hope that Old Glory will soon float over Berlin and the Greek flag over Constantinople.

of The Sun was next introduced as a man who has "done a good deal toward the advancement of the Greek people of this city, and a true friend of the sons of Greece. Mr. Harrington said it is true that he has watched with pleasure the great advancement made by the so-called Greek colony of this city. He said he was not surprised to see sons of Greece, the birth place of art, select as their adopted city, Lowell, which has for its civic motto, "Art is the Handmaid of Human Good." Addressing the ambassador the speaker said: "When you return to your country you can tell your fellow countrymen that you have met in Lowell as fine a type and a thoroughbred, patriotic people as can be found in this country." Mr. Harrington declared his firm belief that if the foot of the invaders should be set upon our soil among the first to jump into the breach would be the men of the race of Leonidas, and to the last drop of their blood they would, like the men of Thermopylae, hold the front against all our enemies.

Dr. George Demopoulos said he was glad to see that the Greeks are participating in the great war and he said he can assure everyone that they will remain in the conflict to the end. "We came very near not being in it," he said, "but thanks to the man who is now governing Greece we have entered it and we will do all we can to win this great fight for democracy."

Mr. Otto Hockmeyer said there are a number of Greek-speaking people of this city who are in the same condition as he is, that is, who have been living in this country a number of years and who have not yet taken out naturalization papers. He said they may have good reasons for not doing so. He urged them to be loyal to their own country, but not to forget the United States is their adopted country and while in this country they are the citizens of the United States and Stripes." He urged sacrifices on the part of his listeners in order to win this war, for by so doing they are helping the world in the struggle for democracy.

Mr. Philip S. Marden, managing editor of the Courier-Citizen, spoke reminiscently on his frequent visits to Greece and said the Greeks of the United States are just as patriotic and as fine a type of men as those across the water. He paid his tribute to the ambassador and closed by congratulating the Greek community for the achievements of the past year.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson said Lowell appreciates the local Greek colony. He said Lowell is second to none in its loyalty and patriotism is as concerned. "I do love to welcome anybody to this patriotic city," he said, "for Lowell is a city that has done and is doing everything to defend the country. Her sons were the first to respond to the call to arms during the rebellion, the Civil war, the Spanish-American war and the present conflict." His Honor then referred to the Greek colony as an industrious and thrifty one and referred to the many real estate owners and business men in the community. He urged everyone to work for the winning of the war and concluded by inviting Ambassador Roussos to Lowell in September as his guest.

The last speaker was Ambassador Roussos, who referred to Greece as the founder of democracy. He said it would be a shame if Greece did not do her share in this world war, and he urged his people not to spare sacrifices for the welfare of the country that is fighting for them, the United States, for by so doing they are helping themselves. He informed his listeners that he had been invited by Mayor Thompson to return to Lowell in September and said he had accepted the invitation. The exercises were then brought to a close and the ambassador left for Peabody, where he was tendered another reception.

The committee in charge of the day's festivities consisted of the board of directors of the community headed by the president and assisted by the physicians of the colony.

toward Fere-an-Tardenois, which is under heavy artillery bombardment, and if it continues, as it has begun, will soon see the Marne again cleared of the enemy. The Germans now hold but a small portion of the bank east of Chartres.

SOISSONS STILL HOLDS OUT

Astride the Ourcq and the Aisne, the Allied advance has been less rapid, but the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry road, except for small sectors here and there, is entirely within the Allied lines. Soissons still holds out, but the French seemingly are content to dominate it with their guns and thereby render it useless as a base, while saving themselves the danger of a flank attack, which might arise if they held the city.

BIG ALLIED GAIN SOUTHWEST OF RHEIMS

Next to the advance around Chateau-Thierry, the most notable development has been the forward thrust by French, Italian and British troops southwest of Rheims. On a front of six miles an average advance of about one mile has been made, the villages of Bouilly and St. Euphrasie and the Rheims and Courton woods being cleared of the Germans. The Allies are meeting with strong resistance and the enemy is reported fighting hard to hold the thrust in check, as it is a serious threat to the German troops between the Andre and the Marne.

MORE GERMANS CAPTURED

The French official statements continue to report the results of the fighting briefly and calmly. There has been no announcement of any increase in the number of prisoners, though it is reported from the battle front that many more have been captured. Four hundred machine guns and 30 cannons were found in the German positions south of the Marne.

BERLIN ADMITS WITHDRAWAL

Berlin admits a withdrawal north and northeast of Chateau-Thierry after that across the Marne. Elsewhere, it says, the Allies have been repulsed with heavy losses. American troops are mentioned and it is claimed they suffered severe casualties. Admission that General Foch's counter blow was a surprise also is made, but the German staff does not mention definite points where fighting is progressing.

ALLIED GAINS IN ALBANIA

In Albania, in a resumption of their movement northward, French and Italian troops have taken the crest of the Mali Siloves, a mountain range in the bend of the Devoli river, south of Elbasan. Rome reports the total prisoners captured up to July 19, as 2167.

BRITISH GAIN BETWEEN

ALBERT AND ARRAS

LONDON, July 22.—Further ground has been gained by the British in the Hebuterne regions, on the front between Albert and Arras, the war office announced today. The British likewise, in conjunction with the French, carried out a successful enterprise to the south of Villers-Bretonneux, east of Amiens, in which prisoners were taken.

The German trenches were entered during the night by British raiding parties at several points on the front, including Neuville-Vitaz and north of Bailloul and prisoners were taken. The statement reads: "Further ground was made by our troops yesterday southeast of Hebuterne and a hostile bombing attack in this neighborhood was repulsed. We captured a few prisoners."

In conjunction with French troops, we carried out a successful minor enterprise last night, south of Villers-Bretonneux, capturing a few prisoners and machine guns. "Our raiding parties entered the enemy's trenches during the night at Neuville-Vitaz at Calonne-sur-la-Lys, and north of Bailloul and brought back prisoners. A hostile raid in the last mentioned sector was repulsed. "The hostile artillery was active in the Loere sector."

BROKEN UP BY ALLIES

PARIS, July 22.—Strong counter attacks delivered last night by the Germans on the front between the Ourcq and the Marne were broken up by the allies, the war office announced today. The allied positions have been maintained.

The enemy blows were delivered in the regions of Crisolles, seven miles northwest of Chateau-Thierry, and near St. Germain, four miles north of Chateau-Thierry.

North of the Ourcq and between the Marne and Rheims, the enemy's reaction was limited to artillery fire. The fire was particularly notable in the region of the woods of Courton and Roul.

The statement reads: "During the night the Germans limited their reaction to a series of bombardments north of the Ourcq and between the Marne and Rheims, notably in the region of the Courton and Roul woods.

"Between the Ourcq and the Marne, we have broken strong counter attacks by the Germans in the region from Grisolles to Dezu-St. Germain. We have maintained our position throughout the line."
